U. S. Appeals Court Decides For Refugees

Given Protection After Flight From Reds In Hungary

NEW YORK (AP) — Refugees from the 1956 Hungarian revolution who came to this country without visas have a right to full protection of the U. S. Constitution, the U. S. Court of Appeals has ruled.

A government contention that such refugees could be deported without a hearing was overruled by the court Thursday in a 2-1 decision.

The court held that the Hungarian refugees have a special status because they were invited to come here under U. S. foreign policy as announced by President Eisenhower.

In normal cases, aliens residing here while in the technical custody of the attorney general may be deported through revocation of their parole by the attorney general.

The ruling involved the case of Gyula Paktovics, 44, a former Hungarian army captain who is now living in Baltimore with his wife, Sereen, 44, and their two daughters. He is a milkman.

Some time after the family's arrival here as refugees, immigration officials learned that Paktovics had been a member of the Communist party after his release from a concentration camp in 1953.

Immigration officials, charging that the refugee had concealed the Communist party membership, revoked his parole on Aug. 14, 1957. Paktovics has denied any concealment.

The entire family was ordered deported to Austria. The family sought a writ of habeas corpus to halt the deportation. The government, shifting tactics, then dropped that phase of the case and acted against the family on the ground that they lacked visas.

The new issue was taken before U. S. Dist. Judge Irving R. Kaufman here. He granted a writ of habeas corpus to Mrs. Paktovics and the children and they were thus enabled to stay in this country. The judge ruled, however, that the attorney general had the right to revoke the husband's parole.

Russians See Peace Parade

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union placed the accent on peace today in a Red Square parade celebrating the 41st anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

The display of military equipment contained nothing new. The equipment rumbled past the Lenin-Stalin Tomb in seven minutes.

Marshal Rodion Malinovsky called the tune in a speech hailing the "fight for peace," which he said is "meeting stubborn resistance from the ruling circles of the United States and Britain."

Corruption Curbs Due

Labor Set To Push Reform Legislation

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Labor may have a stronger hand than business, it appeared today, in shaping legislation in the next Congress to curb union corruption.

If so, it will mean that business strategy backfired in helping kill off the Kennedy-Ives bill with its requirements that business and unions report to the government various types of management-labor spending.

The labor bill was a bipartisan compromise effort, sponsored by Sens. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) and Irving M. Ives (R-N.Y.). Business felt the bill was too lenient on unions and too restrictive on management.

The AFL-CIO, which supported the Kennedy-Ives measure, now says it wants a similar bill but more favorable to labor.

Leaders of the AFL-CIO interpreted Tuesday's voting as a mandate to enact things labor wants.

The AFL-CIO Executive Council said in a statement Thursday that voters have "sharply and publicly rebuked those cynical politicians and big business reactionaries who sought to make political capital out of the isolated instances of corruption in labor's ranks exposed by the McClellan Committee."

Last year's drive to enact a labor control bill was spurred by disclosures before the Senate committee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.).

The AFL-CIO called also for a general overhaul of the Taft-Hartley law plus housing, education, civil rights and other measures.

The federation demanded repeal of the Taft-Hartley law's section 14b which sanctions the state laws that ban the union shop whereby workers are required to join a union.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, said labor wants Congress to enact legislation of the Kennedy-Ives type to help curb corruption — not only in unions but, he said, among employers who "subvert union leaders through bribes and gifts."

French General Dies, Hero Of World War I

BAYEUX, France (AP) — French Gen. Georges Tabouis, who captured the first German flag to fall to the Allies in World War I, died here today. He was 92. The capture came while Tabouis was commanding a battalion of French riflemen at the Battle of Saint Blaise in 1914.

Ike Asserts A-Test Ban To Continue

Urges Russians To Join In Temporary Curb On Explosions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States announced today that Russia has fired two nuclear weapons tests since this country halted testing. President Eisenhower said, however, that the American suspension will continue for the time being.

In a statement, Eisenhower appealed to the Soviet government to join in a temporary ban on experimental nuclear explosions.

At the same time he warned: "If there is not shortly a corresponding renunciation by the Soviet Union (of testing), the United States will be obliged to reconsider its position."

AEC Makes Announcement

Announcement of the new nuclear explosions in the Soviet Union was made by the Atomic Energy Commission.

There was an implication in the AEC statement that the Soviets might have thought the two tests would not be detected, although this was merely a speculation.

The Atomic Energy Commission today announced detection of two nuclear weapons tests which occurred in the U. S. S. R. on Nov. 1 and Nov. 3, respectively.

"Both explosions were of relatively low yield. They were conducted at a test site in the southern part of the U. S. S. R. rather than at the Novaya Zemlya test site north of the Arctic Circle where most of the tests in recent weeks have been held."

Eisenhower in his statement said that "this continued testing by the Soviet Union has occurred despite the fact that negotiations for the suspension of testing of nuclear weapons have since Oct. 31, been under way at Geneva."

The United States, he recalled, announced Aug. 22 that concurrently with the opening of the Geneva negotiations it would suspend the testing for one year "unless testing is resumed by the Soviet Union."

Russia suspended tests March 31 and had not yet resumed them in August. Soviet scientists started a new series at the end of September, Moscow arguing that this was necessary because the United States and Britain had not accepted the Russian proposal in March to halt all testing permanently.

Rejected West Request

Later about Aug. 30 the Soviet government refused the U. S.-British call for tests to halt for a year on Oct. 31, and said it would be free to continue nuclear explosions until its total equaled that of the United States and Britain since March.

Eisenhower said the United States and Britain during the past week have maintained their Oct. 31 suspension.

The fact that the White House statement was upcoming had been (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Cypriots Kill British Banker

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI) — Terrorist gunmen today killed a second British bank official in two days just as the government announced an early morning curfew designed to allow British civilians to get to work safe from attack.

The victim, Anthony Benson, shot outside the Ottoman Bank here managed in Nicosia, was the 10th Briton killed since Britain applied its "partnership" plan for Cyprus Oct. 2 despite Greek objections.

The Alaskan Air Command said the rescue operation went off exactly as planned, the men were separated from the runway on the other half of the island by 1 1/2 miles of open water and crossed down.

The men had a boat with them on the floe and used it to get across the gap.

The C123J, using jet assisted takeoff, lifted the men off the runway half of the island at 2:27 a.m. E.S.T. (9:27 p.m. Nov. 6 Alaska time).

They will be flown to the RCAF station alert on the northern tip of

Starkweather Claims Caril Was Willing

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Killer Charles Starkweather says he doesn't care whether his ex-sweetheart Caril Ann Fugate lives or dies.

But testimony of the 18-year-old, himself condemned to death, stood today as the most damaging to date against Caril, 15, charged with first-degree murder on the identical counts on which Starkweather was convicted.

Starkweather completed a dramatic two-day appearance at Caril's trial Thursday. Prosecutors expected to rest their case today after introduction of a statement taken from Caril after her capture. Its contents have not previously been divulged.

Starkweather pictured Caril as his willing accomplice on a killing spree last January.

He disowned as "a bunch of hogwash" his earlier statements which portrayed her as an unwilling helper.

In fact, he related, some stories he told were fabricated jointly by Caril and himself while they lived together for several days at Caril's home after Starkweather killed three members of Caril's family.

Caril is charged with aiding and abetting Starkweather in the shooting of Robert Jensen, Bennet, Neb., schoolboy. Jensen is one of Starkweather's 11 admitted victims.

Quake Rocks North Japan

TOKYO (AP) — A major earthquake spawned deep in the Pacific rolled over northern Japan in a thunderous wave today. It smashed windows and broke power lines.

No casualties or serious damage were reported, however.

A tidal wave alert was flashed immediately across the main northern island of Hokkaido and northern Honshu but was canceled later.

Unusual wave action was reported from Wake Island, east of Japan. A weak tidal wave hit Hawaii. The Hawaiian islands of Oahu and Kauai reported rises of about a foot along their shores.

Nine Passengers Injured In Crash

HOPEWELL, Va. (AP) — A Trailways bus with 22 aboard ran off a slick curve east of here today, dropped down an embankment and slammed into a clump of trees. The driver was hospitalized and nine passengers received minor injuries.

The bus was bound from Norfolk, Va. to Scranton, Pa. when the accident happened about 3:30 a.m.

The driver, Frank C. Bennett, 30, of Richmond, was hospitalized in Richmond with what was believed a broken leg.

Showers Due On Weekend

BALTIMORE (AP) — Five-day forecast: Temperatures will average near or slightly below normal. Warmer Sunday, cooler Monday and warmer Wednesday. There will be scattered showers Sunday and precipitation is likely again about Wednesday, and will total one-tenth to four-tenths of an inch. Normal afternoon highs are in the 50s. Lows vary from 37-43 to 39-25 in the mountains.

Mayor Guilty Of Disorder, Stays Silent

AURORA, Ill. (AP) — Paul Egan, the usually voluble mayor of Aurora, was silent Thursday after he was convicted by a jury of disorderly conduct and fined $157.20.

Egan, who has been feuding with Police Chief Donald Curran and the 68-man police force, did not testify during the four-hour trial presided over by Justice of the Peace Albert W. Zettinger. He had no defense witnesses.

Curran and two other witnesses testified against the 60-year-old mayor, who was arrested by Curran Oct. 14 at a meeting Egan had called in an attempt to mobilize citizens to replace the police force.

Egan's City Attorney Sidney Podolsky asked the verdict be dismissed on grounds the state law provides that the maximum possible fine on the charge is $100. Egan's fine was $141 plus costs of $16.20. Zettinger said he would take the motion under consideration.

U. S., Peiping Talks Resumed In Warsaw

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — The United States and Communist China today renewed their diplomatic soundings aimed at easing the tension around Quemoy.

U. S. Ambassador Jacob Beam and Red envoy Wang Ping-nan got together two weeks after the talks were suspended for a "think it over" period. Their last session coincided with announcement of the Communists' every other day cease-fire.

Producer Of '21' Accused Of Lying

NEW YORK (AP) — Albert Freedman, 36, producer of the defunct television show "Twenty-One" was arrested today on a two-count indictment charging that he lied in denying that he supplied questions and answers to contestants on the show.

Freedman, of New Rochelle, N.Y., became the first to be indicted in the probe of television shows after rigging charges were brought against them.

He is employed by Production Services, Inc., the corporate name of the firm owned by Jack Barry, a master of ceremonies; and producer Dan Enright, owners of "Twenty-One."

Lunar Probe Shot Delayed At Canaveral

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A strange knocking noise inside the missile early today caused postponement of the latest Air Force attempt to shoot a satellite around the moon.

The huge Pioneer moon rocket glowed in the rays of floodlights for more than two hours in a driving rainstorm before the launch was called off at 12:34 a.m.

The Air Force has two more chances to shoot for the moon this month — in the early morning hours of Saturday and Sunday and then only within a critical time period of 18 to 20 minutes.

The time on a moon-launching is critical because the earth and moon are in the opportune position for just brief periods each day.

If the missilemen fail to fire within the specified time, they will have to wait until early in December.

The launching was less than an hour away from zero when the noise was heard. The trouble apparently could not be pinpointed soon enough to get the rocket off during the critical time limit.

The Air Force announced the postponement was due to technical difficulties.

Two other moon rocket attempts have failed.

Texas Solon Cites Aims, No Revenge

Johnson Declares Jobless Areas To Get Federal Help

By ERNEST H. VACCARO

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) pledged victorious Democrats today to meet President Eisenhower at least halfway to avoid partisan warfare in the two years ahead.

The Senate majority leader said that a nation "cannot exist in the field of foreign affairs and defense when it speaks with two voices."

At the same time, Johnson sketched the broad outlines of a 12-point legislative program, some parts of which are certain to draw Eisenhower's fire.

Notes Ike's Charges

Johnson also took obvious note of Eisenhower's campaign speeches calling some Democrats spend-thrifts, radicals, boondogglers and gloomdoctors, but said his party would not seek revenge.

"Every campaign, of course, produces its exaggerations and its heated remarks," said Johnson, who with House Speaker Sam Rayburn will lead the next Congress.

"Some people will say things—when they see a few votes fading away—which they would never say upon reflection."

Johnson's speech was prepared for a Texas Business Education Day at Big Spring, Tex. Copies of his address, his first since Tuesday's elections greatly increased Democratic congressional strength, were given out at Johnson's Capitol office.

When the Democrats agree with the President, they will try to support him, Johnson said, and when they disagree, they will try to present constructive alternatives.

Some of the proposals Johnson outlined today appeared certain to win opposition from Eisenhower, who re-emphasized at a Wednesday news conference what he called the dangers of reckless spending.

Asks New Farm Program

Without specifying what he had in mind, Johnson called for a new farm program, saying, "There is something wrong when the government must spend 53 cents for every net dollar the farmer takes in."

Eisenhower told reporters Wednesday he contemplated no change in the administration's farm policy.

Johnson called for legislation to help areas of chronic unemployment. Eisenhower vetoed an area development bill passed at the last session which far exceeded his own recommended program.

In addition to housing, urban renewal, airport building, a new farm program, water development, depressed area help and lower interest rates, Johnson said Congress must face up to:

A review of foreign policy "so that bold, new, imaginative programs can be recommended to responsible officials."

A "consistent policy for Latin America which will help our neighbors to help themselves."

The need to breathe new life into the newly created space agency and launch a program to explore outer space.

The need for a program to develop the peaceful uses of the atom with emphasis on an atomic merchant marine.

Passage of a labor bill "to protect honest, constructive labor from the selfish schemes of the racketeers."

WASHINGTON (AP) — A record vote for a nonpresidential election year was registered in Tuesday's balloting.

Congressman Gives Praise To Successor

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A retiring Republican congressman has nothing but praise for the Democrat elected to succeed him.

In a letter to his constituents, the outgoing lawmaker said the Democrat "has a background from education and experience that eminently qualifies him for the work ahead."

"He is thoroughly honest," the Republican said, "and while he entertains progressive views, he is at the same time a defender of the Constitution of the United States, and when he holds up his hand to take his oath to defend it, he will mean every word of it."

The congressman, a veteran Rep. Usher Burdick (R-N.D.), his Democratic successor, his son, Quentin.

Bing Fires Miss Callas, Given Ovation In Dallas

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—Dramatic soprano Maria Meneghini Callas, fired Thursday by New York's Metropolitan Opera, was too upset to talk but still able to sing a near perfect waltz a few hours later for a cheering Dallas audience.

"Down here we are doing art, thank heavens!" she was quoted as saying.

The Met's general manager, the Rudolf Bing, notified Miss Callas by telegram of her discharge for refusing to live up to the terms of her contract for appearances in New York in January and February. He said she was undoubtedly one of "the outstanding artists of the world," that he was glad to have been able to present her at the Met for two seasons, and "grateful" to be rid of her.

Miss Callas told one of them she "cannot switch voices like an elevator" to fulfill Bing's scheduling of two performances of "La Traviata" between two performances of "Macbeth," all during a 20-day period.

Bing said Miss Callas had agreed to the scheduling when the contract was signed, and again when she visited him last month en route to Dallas. He said she had also turned down his suggestion that she substitute "Lucia di Lammermoor" or another opera for "La Traviata."

A spokesman said she was upset to talk and a police guard was thrown around her dressing room at the State Fair Music

Two Men Die In Landslide On Mountain

Two Escape When Debris And Rocks Bury Oregon Area

SILETZ, Ore. (AP)—A hillside covered with logs and huge rocks tumbled down Thursday on four men clearing an earlier slide from a mountain logging road.

Two workmen were caught and killed by the slide. Another was buried but dug his way out. The fourth was pelted with rocks but scampered to safety.

The giant slide—300 feet wide and 800 feet long—buried and killed Harley Norton, 50, and Peter Jacobs, 44, under three feet of mud and debris.

Ronnie Olman, about 30, jumped under his tractor. The tractor was buried, but he dug his way out. Jim Bergen, about 30, was working when he saw the slide.

"I slapped Jacobs on the shoulder and said 'Let's go—run,'" Bergen said.

Bergen said he, Jacobs and Norton began running along the road. "I ran 100 yards," he said. "I heard a big roar behind me. And then I was pelted with small rocks. When I looked back I was the only one there. The slide had just missed me."

Five hours later a crew of men found the bodies of Jacob and Norton.

Blame For Crash Denied By Castro

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Fidel Castro, leader of Cuba's rebels, has disclaimed responsibility for the crash of a Cuban airplane last week that killed 17 persons.

In a broadcast from his mountain hideout in eastern Cuba, Castro said Thursday night that "even if it were true that some rebels were aboard, they were acting on their own" in seizing the plane and forcing it to a crash landing.

The plane crashed in northern Cuba Saturday on a flight from Miami to Havana.

Jack Paar Hurt In Fall During TV Show Stunt

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Comedian Jack Paar took an unexpected spill on a trick chair and had to leave his nationally televised show Thursday night.

The game performer tried to carry on the tradition of the "show must go on" but he finally gave way to pain in his left arm and made an exit 40 minutes after his hour and 45 minute show began. His injury was not serious and it was believed no bones were broken.

National Broadcasting Company spokesmen said the accident happened about 15 minutes after the daily nighttime show began when Paar was about to go through a skit with a stuntman involving trick props.

A whole set of breakaway tables, chairs and bottles had been set up before the cameras in order to have a stuntman demonstrate to Paar how rough and tumble fights are staged on TV and in films.

Paar, who had not rehearsed the skit during the day except to building and New York City's walk through it, apparently didn't realize how easily the set pieces wave of laughter from the audience which was unaware he had injured his arm.

announced Thursday night. Until the new Russian blasts were announced, there had been some apparent hope that the Soviets would go along with a tacit suspension of the Berlin blockade.

The Geneva talks were deadlocked during their first week. The Soviet Union has insisted first on an agreement to outlaw tests, to be followed by work on an international inspection system to police the agreement. The two Western countries have contended the inspection system should be agreed to as the first step.

Britain sought to break the deadlock Thursday with a proposal that discussions proceed on the assumption that a tacit test suspension already exists. It was argued that this could be extended indefinitely if progress toward international control is made at the Geneva talks.

Frustration

THE NATIONALIST Chinese plainly are chafing under the frustrations of their odd position. It was of course with reluctance that Chiang Kai-shek promised Secretary of State Dulles that he would not use force as a principal means of achieving his goal of recapturing the Communist-held mainland. Since that time, others of his government have made sounds that could be interpreted as a partial repudiation of that pledge. Vice President Chen Cheng talks of the Nationalists' responsibility to "counterattack against the mainland." Chiang himself speaks as if he were hedging as much as he could on his promise.

WHILE HE PUBLICLY places his chief hopes of a mainland return on an anti-Communist uprising there, he declares nevertheless that his government is prepared to rely 70 per cent on political means and but 30 per cent on military means to attain that objective. There probably is not a military analyst anywhere outside Formosa—if even there—who imagines that a 100 per cent military effort by Chiang's modest forces, let alone a 30 per cent effort, would go far toward the overthrow of the Peiping regime. Thus the real grain of substance in what Chiang says is his hope of internal mainland revolt. Why, then, the persistent necessity for seeming to keep the door open for a Nationalist military effort? The reason would appear to be that Chiang and his government are trying desperately to sustain an illusion—that he and his forces will in fact reconquer the mainland and restore China to freedom.

ALL AVAILABLE evidence suggests there is no prospect of a rebellion against the Red Chinese regime in the long foreseeable future. Chiang must know that the millions of overseas Chinese, whom he believes look to his government for hope, understand this as well as he. Therefore he cannot quite shut the door on military enterprise. He must dangle this illusion before the hopeful as a slender but perhaps persuasive alternative. For to acknowledge there is no real hope for either military effort or internal uprising would be to announce the futility of his regime. This Chiang can never do, obviously. For without that illusion he becomes simply the aging governor general of a modest-sized Pacific island.

For Manly Fellows

MOST AMERICAN males seem to think that poetry is for sissies. Baseball statistics and other such fare, perhaps seasoned with some other news of the day, is thought to be more suitable literary red meat for manly fellows. This is a curious attitude for the aforesaid manly fellows to maintain. For sports news is, after all, merely a report on various entertaining games—reports that, once made, quickly lose their significance. Whereas the best of poetry strives to tell something about the tough and vital heart of human experience. An excellent argument could be made for the notion that reading poetry is a far more manly pursuit than reading accounts of exploits on gridiron and baseball diamond. Archibald MacLeish, one of the best poets yet produced in this country, told an audience recently that he had spent 50 years "trying to discover the secret of turning the water of words into the wine of poetry." That expresses rather well the difference between hackneyed prose and the poem which cuts through to the essence of what men do and think and feel. A word to forestall attack: We don't think all sports writing is hackneyed, and we see nothing wrong with keeping abreast of sports news; we do it ourselves. All we're saying is that those who shun poetry in the mistaken belief that poetry is for sissies are cheating themselves of a mountain-top experience.

Demos Are Not So Radical After All

WASHINGTON — How radical are the "radical" Democratic candidates who came under heavy Eisenhower-Nixon fire in the campaign just completed? How much trouble will those who are elected really give their moderate "Texan" leaders, Rep. Sam Rayburn and Sen. Lyndon Johnson?

THE HOUSE Speaker and the Senate Majority Leader are calm and point to certain facts. Of the 20 Democrats who might be on the Administration's radical list Rayburn and Johnson have already served with nine, eight in the House and one in the Senate.

THREE OTHERS are well known to them as Democratic governors. They are George Leader of Pennsylvania, Edmund Muskie of Maine and Elbert Carvel of Delaware. They are liberals but were never tagged radical by the press of their states.

OF THE 20, seven — a little better than a third — are Catholics. They would not, therefore, be vulnerable to the "soft on communism" argument which the Vice-President has advocated in California.

THE FORMER Senator is Gov. Ernest McFarland of Arizona. On the record he was the South's choice for Senate Leader preceding Johnson and Southern votes put him over. His colleague, Sen. Carl Hayden, a living legend in Arizona who sets the tone of Arizona politics in between elections, is a conservative who fought hard for McFarland this fall.

THE FORMER House members who sought Senate seats are Thomas D'Alesandro of Maryland, Clair Engel of California, Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota, Thomas Dodd of Connecticut, Harrison Williams of New Jersey, Stephen Young of Ohio, and Robert C. Byrd and Jennings Randolph of West Virginia. The Speaker cannot recall that they manifested extremist tendencies likely to bother their old House colleague, the present Senate Leader.

THE REST ARE not well known here. But Frank Hogan of New York is a former associate of Thomas E. Dewey in the District Attorney's office — a fact held against him by some Democratic liberals. Fred Fayette of Vermont is an old friend and supporter of the Republican senator from his state, George Aiken. J. Gov. Phillip Hart of Michigan would normally come under suspicion by reason of his state Democratic ties with Walter Reuther; he is, however, a Catholic. George McGee of Wyoming is a college professor, but Sen. Joseph O'Mahoney of that state has employed him and is prepared to defend him against "radical" charges. Chester Morrison of Nebraska, Vance Hartke of Indiana, Howard Cannon of Nevada and Frank Moss of Utah are strangers to party leaders.

IT IS TRUE of virtually all of them that they are well to the left of the hard-core of Southern conservatives, but then so are Rayburn and Johnson. The more liberal leaven will be held in the long run of Congressional performance, in part because it will give the leaders more leeway in their operations.

THE ONE outstanding exception to the prospect that Democratic freshmen cannot move the Congress far from its middle way is the civil rights issue. That is a special case and it will erupt promptly when the gavel falls and possibly pre-empt the January stage.

BUT EVEN if the newcomers show more fire elsewhere than anticipated, Johnson and Rayburn are heavily armed. They decide committee assignments and they understand the operations of their chambers.

THE Speaker in particular has a whole dispensary of hot-blooded coolers at his command, including his own intimidating prestige, which is unique. He can hold any member to five minutes' speaking time on any subject, which is short notice for altering the direction of the nation.

U. S. Now Ready For Many Global Meets

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The American-British-Russian conference on suspension of nuclear weapons tests, which opened in Geneva, Switzerland, Oct. 13 and the conference on safeguards against surprise attack, convening there Nov. 10, are only two of the nearly 300 such international powwows in which the United States will take part this year. A new one opens every working day, on the average.

Only one in ten is considered a major conference. But all are considered important in promoting peaceful relations between nations. And the fact that this international conference business has more than tripled since 1946 shows how life nations are progressing toward limited world government by specialized international congresses.

Biggest and most expensive session this year was the second conference on peaceful uses of atomic energy at Geneva. The U.S. sent 300 of its top scientists there. Atomic Energy Commission spent four million dollars to show off American developments in this field.

COMING UP in April is the International Telecommunications Union meeting in Los Angeles. It will have delegations from the Iron Curtain countries. It met last in Warsaw.

Civil Aviation Organization's general meeting is scheduled for San Diego in June. It will show off American progress in jet aircraft development by West Coast manufacturers and maybe, as a side issue, promote some business.

United Nations General Assembly, now in session in New York, is of course the biggest, longest and most expensive of the regular annual conferences.

Specialized U.N. agencies like World Health Organization and International Labor Organization usually hold their annual meetings at their headquarters in Geneva.

THERE'S a permanent U.S. staff there to maintain American representation. It's under Henry Villard, a career minister who wears about six hats and holds probably the longest title in the Foreign Service. He's "U.S. Representative at the European Office of the United Nations and Other International Organizations (Geneva) and Consul General."

THE UNITED Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization — opened its biennial meeting at its Paris headquarters Nov. 4. The North Atlantic Treaty Council of foreign and defense ministers meets semi-annually. The next session will be in Paris in December.

There's a special Office of International Conferences in the State Department, under Harold G. Kissick, to arrange for all these meetings, commission the delegates, provide them with hotel rooms and offices, pay their expenses.

INCLUDED in the budget is a "representation" allowance of $100,000 for entertainment. It's barely enough for working session lunch money with nothing for cocktails or receptions. Congress doesn't approve.

Few of these conferences meet in Washington because there's no adequate place to hold them. That will be changed when State Department moves into its vast new building in a year or so.

The first floor of one corner of the building will be for conferences. It will have one big room to accommodate over 300 delegates, several smaller rooms and a big auditorium seating 800 for ceremonial sessions, with simultaneous translation facilities.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK—The week of November 24-30 should cause some kind of glow in literary circles. On November 24, Henry Holt and Company brings out "Beloved Infidel," colleague Sheila Graham's extraordinarily candid autobiography of a Cockney orphanage wall who rose to musical comedy stardom, chucked it, wed and had two children, met Scott Fitzgerald in California at the lowest, most despondent moment in his life and through their association rekindled his talents and ambitions to the point where he began the vigorous, powerful novel he never lived to finish.

The book erases all the happy, convenient lies she built up around herself and her background and sets her astonishing personal record straight.

ON NOVEMBER 27, Random House brings out John O'Hara's gigantic novel, "From The Terrace," the best thing he has done, I think, and a work of brilliance. It is no small book, running almost 900 pages, and there isn't a dull page in the novel, but it seems only fair to warn the squeamish that O'Hara is no casual hand with Anglo-Saxon one syllable words, several of which he uses often and generously. He is also not timid about detailed, factual, minute description of encounter between the sexes.

If you agree that people do these things and say these things in every day meeting and talking and that he is being frank and reporting honestly rather than indulging himself in erotica, then "From The Terrace" will be to you what it really is: a masterly novel of American people.

NOTHING, but nothing, is too good for a reader.

A lady in Pennsylvania asked "Whatever happened to Freckles in the Our Gang film comedies of long ago?" Ruth Bari, your answer: Freckles was a kid named Len Weiner and he now has his own film editing and screen-writing service here in New York.

He was working in Hollywood as film editor when, in a hamburger joint there, he met Leila Holiday, who is now the girl doing the TV commercials for Coty. She had been called to Los Angeles by film producer Joe Pasternak to make a screen test. Instead, she married Weiner. They now have two children, ages two and three years and she has just completed a supper club engagement at Ober Lucie in New York. End of dossier.

EVER HEAR of Galen Gough? In World War I he was a Marine machine gunner, was shot in the head and face and left for dead. Rescued several days later, he underwent many operations but was considered a hopeless paralytic. He cured that himself by forcing himself to learn judo and, in time, became a Hollywood character actor and technical advisor on screen fights.

He also taught Rex Harrison, Mae West, Ann Southern and many others judo for self-defense and taught them well. Don't tangle with any of them unless you are at least Black Belt in judo.

His war injuries left him with a face in perpetual sneer and scowl, which is what got him his film jobs. All of which would not seem to be the best preparation for a painter of sensitive pictures. But it was and he is and the paintings go on view in a one-man show at the Newtown Gallery between now and November 20.

THERE WAS mention here recently of Stuart Bari who has created a huge business renovating neckties by approved new methods, which undoubtedly makes him a "liecon." But, running into him on Fifth Avenue the other night I learned that he is also an analyst.

Show him your collection of ties and he will tell you what kind of man you are. Your tastes, your strengths, your frailties, your hidden motives.

I baffled him: I had on a new black-knit tie, except that he implied that anyone who wears a black-knit tie always, habitually, constantly without ever using any other kind is a person without imagination, sensitivity, enterprise or gumption. And thank you, Mr. Bari, for heaven's sake.

He also said he could tell me the name of a man who has made a fortune in the cosmetic business who regularly pays $20 each for his slim, slim ties and then brings them to Bari to have one-eighth of an inch of width trimmed off.

"Who, without measuring, would know?" Bari asked him.

"I would," said the customer. "I want to be the man with the slimmest ties in New York."

Chacun, as the fellow said, a son goute. Some people want to climb Mt. Everest, some want to skin-dive 300 feet, others want to grow mushrooms in their basements. This one wants the slimmest ties in New York.

Center Of Power Moves

WASHINGTON — The true center of power over American foreign policy is about to move from Foggy Bottom, the site of the State Department, to Capitol Hill.

This coming shift is due primarily to basic and impersonal political realities. It is not much related to what some presume, rather too melodramatically, will be widespread Democratic bitterness over President Eisenhower's unconvincing "tough" Republican talk in the recent Congressional campaign.

DEMOCRATS who will run the opposition show in the new Congress — Senator Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and his Senate associates and Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas in the House — will not be crushed at "what Eisenhower said." They will not lose an hour's sleep over the rhetoric of the campaign.

And, almost certainly, there will be no reprisals in the field of foreign policy — though on domestic matters there will be another story entirely. Domestically, the Democrats will make much medicine for the Presidential election of 1960.

Control of our world affairs — not in the operational sense but in the strategic sense — will largely and quickly pass from the President and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles to Congress for several reasons.

EISENHOWER Administration is on the last lap. The President's never very strongly exercised ability to influence the Senate will amount to little from here on out.

Most of Mr. Dulles' points of close contact with the Senate have been lost by circumstances, such as the decision of his closest Congressional friend, Senator H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey, not to seek re-election. The man who will now, in fact though not in form, succeed Mr. Smith as principal GOP spokesman on foreign policy, Senator Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, is not notably a "Dulles man."

REGARDLESS of the outcome of the Congressional elections, the Senate would have moved forward to reclaim its high mission in foreign policy. If for no other reason, it would have done so simply because any weakening in the Executive Department is invariably followed by a corresponding assertion of the historic claims of the Senate as an institution.

Thus it may be safely predicted that beginning in January our policies abroad will be more nearly made "on the hill" than at any time since long before World War II. This, however, will not reflect any widened Congressional dislike of Secretary Dulles.

ACTUALLY, he is more nearly popular now than he was two years ago — again because of external circumstances. Though some Democrats did not like what he did in the dispatch of troops to the Middle East, they did like the fact that at last there was action instead of talk. If Mr. Dulles made them less than happy he also broadened the theretofore dangerously thin respect in which he had been held.

Again, the Dulles policy on Formosa and the off-shore islands for a time angered many Democrats. Again, however, he so altered his line at last as to go a long way toward a new China policy, which is not too far away from what the controlling Democrats and liberal Republicans had long hoped for.

IRONICALLY, what he did in the summer and fall — in facing up to events that would not be talked away — strengthened him in the human sense, whether his actions were right or wrong. To say, however, that he is more respected than he used to be is not at all to say he will be as influential as he used to be.

On the contrary, he will typify the declining power of the Administration. The ascending forces over foreign policy will be made up of such as Senator Johnson and Senators J. William Fulbright of Arkansas and Mike Mansfield of Montana. Johnson, who for years has stayed in the background in this area, will be far more prominent in it now. Fulbright, senior Democratic member of the Foreign Relations Committee, will take on marked stature. So will Mansfield, who, apart from membership on that committee, is assistant Democratic leader of the Senate and thus a high member of the Johnson regency.

ALL THREE of these new men of power are moderates, and two of them — Johnson and Fulbright — speak authentically for the South's internationalism.

Reporter's Notebook

By MUGG A. MULLIGAN
For Mal Boyle

NEW YORK—That grand old business institution, lunch in a brown paper bag, is rapidly vanishing from the American scene. In its place is the liquid lunch of extra-dry martinis, spiced with big-deal shop talk.

The man who came to dinner with a brown paper bag never discussed office problems at the moon hour. He was too busy swapping sandwiches.

And the only midday drinking he did was an occasional puff of beer on a hot day or maybe a bottle of egg nog at Christmas time.

Lunch was mysterious, exciting, even socially revealing when served in a brown paper bag.

A FELLOW COULD come to work with a jar of pickled herring and a couple of left-over sausages in a stale roll, and by adroit trading wind up with a full course meal from the paper bags of his fellow employees.

In the process, he'd learn which wives were good cooks, who were the real gourmets in the crowd and how much the average family budgeted for food.

He could dine on everything from anchovies to zwiebachs and never have to worry about getting an ulcer, tipping the head waiter or being outlumbered on his credit card.

The brown-bagger, as his cult came to be known, was at heart a family man. When he left for work in the morning, he took a little bit of home along with him.

And when he came home at night, he never had to face a dinner of left-over leftovers. He'd already eaten them for lunch or managed to parlay them into something better. Usually, the next fellow's leftovers.

If he worked outdoors, say as a carpenter or lineman, he was the envy of every kid in the neighborhood when he spread out his lunch on somebody's doorstep.

There wasn't a boy alive who wouldn't have risked getting back to school late to fetch him a quart of milk or a tomato from the corner stand.

TETUAN, Morocco—Everywhere we go, my adored one likes to pick up a specimen of the native handicraft, which is the reason I refuse to take her to Grand Rapids. I won't take her to Cape Canaveral either because I couldn't bear to hear her giggling for a rocket. But, in this mysterious old Moorish city, I could not restrain her acquisitive passion.

I can't prove this, but I suspect she bribed our guide, a most untrustworthy-looking son of the desert, to keep me distracted long enough for her to negotiate a purchase.

The minute I saw the fellow I said he had an evil squint, but my bride, who wouldn't be above giving lectures on spot diagnoses to Dr. Albert Schweitzer, insisted it was only eye trouble. Anyway the guide gave me a jolly old tribal leer and, pointing to a Moorish archway, spoke:

"You go in there and look, yes. Many pretty young girl."

His words proved to be true. The denizens were female and young—insufferably so. It was a trade school for girls under eight. They were majoring in rug-weaving.

I WOULD HAVE backed out hurriedly except that the professors suffered the hallucination that I had dropped in to buy a rug. When I finally tore free and climbed into the twisted street of the cobbles just below the casbah (which means "castle" no matter what Charles Boyer may have led you to believe) I discovered my beloved bargaining with a shoemaker crouched in a shop not high or wide enough to garage a kiddie car. She emerged, triumphant, with a pair of native slippers you could have bought for half the price in Tiffany's.

Using me as a support, she slipped them on and went squishing proudly through the native quarter, flattening herself from time to time against a wall to allow the passage of a donkey overloaded with dubious merchandise. After plopping through about the twentieth fish-head, and other delicacies with which the labyrinths are paved, she began to show odd symptoms of lameness. The slippers were an unattractive pulp, and besides, had begun to spring leaks.

She put her old shoes back on, and left the slippers where they were. But she hadn't gone forty feet when a veiled woman dashed up and handed the discarded things back to her.

My loved one tried to get rid of the slippers all day, but no matter where she dumped them they were restored to her. Moreover, each retriever made it obvious that he, or she, expected some token of appreciation in return.

BUT THIS WASN'T the only faulty advice we received. We were informed that the Moroccans indulged in no public displays of affection. But I don't know how many females smothered in veils we saw flirting madly with gay blades in robes and turbans.

In the garden of the old Khalif's Palace one jasmine-scented night, we witnessed a lady in purdah enthusiastically kissing a young Berber through her veil. He didn't seem to mind the competition with the cheesecloth. Maybe that's where they got the expression "strained passion."

Our guide was regaling us with a pastoral idyll of how he singlehandedly blew up a truck filled with French soldiers before the liberation when I inquired idly what he thought of Nasser. I feared he was going to run amok.

"You don't like him!" he cried, his eyes blazing. "We like him!"

He ranted on and on about how Americans hated the Egyptian for no reason, and Moroccans loved him. Africa is being fed daily doses of love and hate. Unhappily, we're not doing much of the feeding.

Body Of Man Found After Assault Case

SALISBURY (AP) — A former night watchman at a shirt factory apparently took his own life yesterday, as members of his family were approaching the house to visit him and a dozen policemen were leaving City Hall to arrest him.

The body of 64-year-old William Fleenor was found by his daughter, Mrs. Ennis Adkins of Snow Hill. She and her husband and 4-year-old son had just walked onto the porch of Fleenor's house when they heard a shot they told police.

Mrs. Adkins said she opened the front door and found her father sitting upright in a chair. A 12-gauge shotgun was found on the floor along with a stick which police theorized might have been used to depress the trigger.

Fleenor was pronounced dead at the scene.

Police Chief William J. Chatham said Fleenor, a former employee of the Manhattan Shirt Co. here, had lived with his common-law wife, Lester Welbourne, 52, since his release from Eastern Shore State Hospital last August.

Chatham said Fleenor beat and stabbed the woman late Wednesday night.

Early yesterday, according to the police chief, the woman's nephew went to Fleenor's home to talk to him about the assault on the woman. Fleenor reached for his shotgun and the nephew fled, going directly to the police.

A warrant charging Fleenor with assault and battery on the woman was sworn out and Chatham and a dozen officers, armed with shotguns, tear gas and a loud speaker, were preparing to leave City Hall to arrest Fleenor when word was received that he was dead.

jump to the slam or West's opening trump lead.

One look at dummy and South saw nothing but trouble. He could give up a diamond trick and get rid of his losing spade on a diamond, but he would have to play three rounds of trumps first and would wind up one trick short of his slam.

Instead, South saw an alternate play that offered real hope. He won the first trick in his own hand and promptly played the eight of spades. At this point West could have beaten the hand by playing the ten spot but West played low.

Now South thought a while and let the eight ride. East won with the queen and led a second trump. South drew trumps and led the nine of spades. This time West played the ten but it was too late. Dummy held the trick with the jack and a diamond went on the ace. Three rounds of diamonds followed with South ruffing the third diamond with his last trump.

Now South took his ace of clubs and claimed the balance of the tricks for dummy.

Molotov Speaker At Mongolia Ceremony

TOKYO (UPI)—Soviet Ambassador to Mongolia Vyacheslav M. Molotov, ousted Kremlin leader, spoke at October revolution ceremonies in Ulan Bator Thursday night, the Communist New China News Agency reported today.

It said Molotov said "the perfect unity of the socialist countries was manifesting itself most convincingly in the struggle against revisionism and imperialism."

Dear Abby — — — By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem in my office. Everyone but myself is either on a diet or is talking about food and weight. It is driving me batty. When I bring a piece of cake with my lunch they make me feel like a criminal. One girl told another girl I brought fattening things on purpose to make her drool. I am inclined toward being slim and can't help it if she is a fat slob. These girls are ruining what was once a pleasant job. Any suggestions?

THE GIRL AT UNITED

DEAR GIRL: People who are fighting the battle of the bulge need all the help they can get. Slip away and eat the sweets in private like a good girl.

DEAR ABBY: In our school we have a teacher who has gotten away with slapping children across the face, the back and shaking them good and hard. She has taught school for many years and all the children dread going into her class. Parents have gone to the principal about her but nothing ever happens. The children of the parents who complained have been mistreated all the more. She makes no bones in class about not liking children but is smooth as they come when talking to parents. Let me add, the children are only seven years old. We mothers would truthfully like to know what to do about it.

ANGRY PARENTS
DEAR PARENTS: Get up a petition of complaints with as many signatures as you can secure (Don't forget the Dads). A representative of your group should make an appointment with the Superintendent of Schools and present it personally.

DEAR ABBY: This may sound terrible but it is true. I have lost all respect for my mother. She will tell me to do something and I know she won't say anything if I don't do it, so I don't. I have been asked to clean up my room but I keep on letting it go because my mother will do it if I wait long enough. I am 15 years old and admit I am spoiled. I get just about anything I want, but I am not happy. My girlfriend does the family laundry on week-ends, has to do dishes every night and doesn't even get an allowance and she is much happier than I am. I can't figure it out, Abby, can you?

UNHAPPY

DEAR UNHAPPY: The child who is given responsibility at home, and is made to, too the mark, is always much happier. Children NEED to be disciplined to feel secure.

DEAR ABBY: A few weeks ago a fellow named DANNY wrote to you asking how to meet a nice woman. Object—marriage. I

D Of A Council 110 Presents 25th Anniversary Program

Pride of Allegany Council 110, Daughters of America, celebrated its 25th anniversary with a program and social a recent evening at Junior Order Hall.

The council was instituted October 7, 1933 with Mrs. Kate Conklin Miller, state councilor, officiating.

Miss Elizabeth Murray, accompanied by Mrs. Edna Engle, presented several vocal numbers. Mrs. Audrey Crabtree gave the history of the institution of the council and highlights of the 25 years.

Miss Sharon Reed entertained with several dance numbers and Miss Joyce Ann Crabtree sang several selections. Miss Brown was accompanied. Paul Hendrickson entertained with two vocal numbers.

Fourteen charter members were present and were escorted to a place of honor by ten guards of honor wearing colored evening dresses. Each was presented a gift by Mrs. Anna Johnston. Deborah Blacker, daughter of Councilor Wanda Lee Blacker, presented the gifts to the charter members arranged in a doll buggy decorated with red, white and blue crepe paper.

The five deputies, who have served during the 25 years, were also honored. Six deceased charter members were eulogized and a memorial service held. The choir sang "Beyond the Sunset."

after which Mrs. Lucy Gilpin offered prayer and the 23rd Psalm recited in unison. Mrs. Elsie Lehr gave the memorial tribute.

Mrs. Lehr, who has served as secretary for the past 25 years, was escorted to the stage by an honor guard where she was presented with a plaque with 25 one dollar bills attached and tied with red, white and blue ribbons. Mrs. Lehr has also served as a Past State Councilor.

A three-tiered anniversary cake, circled with 25 red, white and blue candles, was brought in on a tea cart and wheeled to the front of the room. Each charter member lighted one of the candles as Mrs. Amelia Cimento, Baltimore, District Deputy, offered prayer. Mrs. Edith Grose, oldest member, cut the first slice of cake. Mrs. Lottie Williamson and Mrs. Mae Copeland served the cake. Mrs. Lola Stewart presided at the punch bowl.

Mrs. Lehr was general chairman of the anniversary party assisted by Mrs. Williamson. Mrs. Anna Johnston, Mrs. Agnes Hensley, Mrs. Lola Stewart, Mrs. Audrey Crabtree, Mrs. Gladys Blacker and Mrs. Mabel Watkins. The refreshments committee was comprised of Mrs. Jessie Leasure, Mrs. Geraldine Larrick, Mrs. Arbutus Lohr, Mrs. Annetta Fradiska, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Williamson, and Mrs. Mabel Watkins.

Mrs. Hafer Gives Talk On Russia At CS Luncheon

Mrs. John J. Hafer was the speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Community Service Group of the Woman's Civic Club yesterday afternoon, at the Woman's Civic Club House. Mrs. Edgar Kendall presided, and Mrs. Eleanor Murrill introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Hafer gave highlights of her six-day visit to Russia last summer, and declared "Russia is a master at deceiving, particularly in small things." To illustrate this she said they saw nothing in Russia that was exhibited at the World's Fair in Brussels. Her own observation was Russia's downfall will be through education, for although they are educating the serfs, it is only in what they want them to know. Point is being made continually that now the palaces are open to the public, which Mrs. Hafer said are dressed in fashions of 20 years ago.

Mrs. Hafer pointed out that even the guards were afraid to answer pertinent questions, and that when she offered one a tip he asked that instead she send him books in English, on grammar, and such works as those of Hemingway, O. Henry and Mark Twain, for any other than non-controversial books he would not receive.

Mrs. Murrill suggested that the group consider the foster parents plan, and read to the children at the library as projects. Mrs. James Hallinan, ways and means chairman, reported that enough was made by the October dance to pay for another scholarship.

A luncheon, prepared on Russian recipes, preceded the talk. Approximately 50 members attended. Mrs. James Pitkethly was chairman, assisted by Mrs. Louis Speer, Mrs. Albert Paye, Mrs. Leo Ley, Mrs. Seth Harter and Mrs. L. J. Auker.

Tawes Faces Big Task Of Filling Jobs

Approximately 1,500 Posts In State Will Be Available

The prospect of filling some 1,500 major and minor state jobs through appointment faces J. Millard Tawes after his landslide election as governor. Many posts of major importance will be subject to action by Tawes after his inauguration January 14. Others must await Senate confirmation of his Green Bag list, although Tawes will have a General Assembly overwhelmingly in his corner.

While these appointments, from the $25,000-a-year chairmanship of the State Roads Commission to unpaid posts on sundry commissions, will further consolidate Democratic gains, they impose a massive burden on the Governor.

Heavy Pressure

He is subject to heavy pressure from every party level in the dispensation of public assignments, whether paid or unpaid.

The appointive powers of Maryland's governor have varied throughout the history of the State. They have been vastly increased in recent years, as statutes creating new assignments have specifically left them to the discretion of the chief executive.

Intense interest will be focused on the makeup of the State Roads Commission. Robert O. Bennell is chairman.

That $25,000 job is the best paid in state service, but it carries also a heavy responsibility—the administration of the $1,200,000,000, fifteen-year highway construction program.

The three members of the roads commission serve completely at the will of the Governor. The two commissioners aside from Bennell are Republican Edgar T. Bennell and Democrat John J. McMullen.

Other salaried state assignments that must be filled next year, either through direct appointment or with legislative confirmation, include the offices of:

Commissioner of motor vehicles, an $8,000 job now filled by James B. Monroe, a Republican.

More Posts Open

State auditor, commanding $9,000.

Adjutant general, an $8,500 assignment.

Bank commissioner and insurance commissioners, both $10,000 jobs.

Loan laws administrator, at $5,000.

Superintendent of State Police, a $9,514 assignment that has been the object of close interest in the past.

One member of the Public Service Commission, the interim appointment now held by Albert L. Sklar, at $8,000.

The four-year term of Wallace Reidt, the $15,000-a-year chairman of the Board of Pardon and Probation and director of the department, will expire next year. Vacancies also must be filled.

NOTICE

Members Of Ft. Cumberland Lodge No 211, A.F. & A.M. are requested to meet 1:15 p. m. Saturday, at the Masonic Temple to attend the funeral of our deceased brother, George Pierce Davis. Services at 2 p. m. at Stein's Funeral Home.

Tawes Back Of Pay Hike For Workers

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gov. elect J. Millard Tawes is going to back to throw his weight behind a pay set-up for practically all State employees.

The State Standard Salary Board agreed yesterday to ask Tawes to use his influence in getting legislation passed early in the next General Assembly.

The board wants a seven per cent hike to go into effect Jan. 1 instead of waiting until May 1.

A few days before last Tuesday's election Tawes said he would "wholeheartedly support" a nine-point legislative program advanced by the Maryland Classified Employees Assn. provided it was "within the ability of the State government to pay."

The proposed 10 million dollar package included a 7 per cent pay raise.

Tawes, who also said he favors a $400 increase for public school teachers, has promised to sit down with representatives of both teachers and State employees to "discuss with them fully and frankly the financial situation of the State government and the best means by which the programs of both associations can adequately be financed."

At its last session the Legislature appropriated $500,000 to go toward State employee salary hikes, but this was only enough to cover approximately the last two months of the fiscal year. Hence, the new scale could not begin until May 1.

The schedules were drawn up primarily to establish equity in pay ranges for various jobs. The increases would be taken amounts in some cases and substantial in others, and almost all of the 18,000 State employees would share in the step-up.

Meanwhile, about 50 employees were granted increases effective the first of the year under emergency powers granted to the salary board. The board first got clearance through the Board of Public Works.

Forty-two administrative and supervisory employees of the Department of Public Welfare were among those okayed for the increase. They had been caught in a salary freeze in 1956.

Others included the positions of chief engineer of the State Roads in prestigious areas such as the State Planning Commission, the Board of Correction, the commissions of forests and parks, game and inland fish, tidewater fisheries, the Board of Public Welfare, the Board of Health, the board of regents of the University of Maryland, and the State Board of Education.

At the local level, the Governor must fill vacancies on many boards of supervisors of elections, liquor boards, and boards of education.

Sellers Given New Position By Celanese

H. Nelson Sellers, Bedford Street, has been promoted to the position of maintenance engineer in the Engineering Division Development Laboratory of the Celanese Corporation at the Textile Division headquarters at Charlotte, N. C., according to W. E. Crooks, manager of the Anacelle plant here.

Sellers was employed at the Anacelle plant in June, 1951, as an estimator and his most recent assignment was that of instrument engineer in Project Engineering. He attended Potomac State School and graduated from West Virginia University where he majored in mechanical engineering.

While at West Virginia University, he was a member of Tau Beta Pi, engineering honorary fraternity, and was chairman of the engineering magazine.

He is past president of the Engineers Club of Cumberland, past president of the Cumberland Section of the Instrument Society of America, a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Potomac Lodge 100, A.F. & A.M., and Mapleside Methodist Church. He has served as assistant scoutmaster for Troop 2.

He is married to the former Miss Mary Coyle and they have two children.

Commission and controller of the SRC. Those jobs are now held by Norman M. Pritchett and Carl N. Wannan.

SRX Personnel Director W. F. Bender said the increases were needed in their cases to bring salaries more in line with their responsibilities.

Day Of Visitation

Columbia Street School will hold a visitation day next Thursday in observance of National Education Week.

Parents will be guests at a tea, according to Mrs. Josephine Fraze, Mrs. Rosemarie Ambrose and Mrs. Ruth Chapman, who comprise the committee in charge of arrangements.

Suburban Planners To Air Proposed Expressway

BETHESDA, Md. (AP) — Suburban Maryland planners have called for a showdown meeting to decide the fate of a proposed expressway to speed traffic through Bethesda into Washington.

All government agencies involved in the controversy were invited to a meeting Nov. 22.

The action was forced when Alvin L. Aubinoe appeared before the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission yesterday. Aubinoe has applied for a permit to construct a multi-million dollar office building in Bethesda at a spot that would put it directly in the path of the proposed highway.

Aubinoe agreed to await the outcome of the showdown meeting before pressing for a building permit.

No Major Shift In Vote Canvass

No major changes resulted in the official canvass of votes cast in Tuesday's general election, the Board of Election Supervisors reports.

One change put Delegate Noel Speer Cook, Republican, in fifth place among the six successful candidates behind Democrat Thomas F. Conlon Jr.

The totals, however, did not include absentee ballots and Cook is expected to regain the fourth spot from Conlon.

The board said 25,520 went to the polls and 119 cast ballots in absentia. That made the total vote 25,639.

Contract Let For ABL Building Work

D. H. Little, plant manager of Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, has announced that the Charles Tompkins Company was the lowest bidder received and a sub-contractor on Phase 2 of a new building program at the Pinto plant.

Sealed bids were opened October 14 at ABL in the presence of Hercules and Navy officials. The bid of $1,086,322 by the Tompkins Company was the lowest bid received and a sub-contractor on Phase 2 of a new building program at the Pinto plant.

The construction, which started Monday, is part of an overall building program in connection with the Polaris project. The Polaris is a U. S. Navy submarine-launched missile.

Phase 2 consists of construction of four buildings with associated service facilities.

The second lowest bid of $1,077,000 was submitted by the Virginia Engineering Company of Newport News, Va. A local firm, George P. Hazelwood Company, sub-contractors of Phase 1 of this building program, submitted the third lowest bid on Phase 2, $2,017,686.

Principals Air Meeting Plans

The state principals meeting was discussed and the committee for January named at a meeting of the Elementary Principals Association Monday evening at Clary Club. Miss Kathryn E. Laughlin presided. The state meeting is to be held in the Belvedere Hotel, Baltimore, next April. Delegates will be named in March.

Mrs. Florence Liller was named chairman for the January 5 meeting. Her committee consists of Miss Agnes Lauder, Miss Alice McCormick, Miss Kitty Longridge, Miss Nellie Dowling, Miss Angela Brady and Earl Brain.

"How People Can Enjoy Themselves Through Music" was the topic of the program presented by Peter Lukas. He spoke and played several piano selections. Sandra Rucker, a pupil of Flintstone school, sang several selections.

William Paul Arbogast, principal of Johnson Heights School, presented a report on the state teachers meeting in Baltimore.

The committee for the meeting included Raymond Skidmore, Miss Catherine Thomas, John Manley, Miss Mary Straw, Miss Imogene Caudill, Mrs. Elsie Roland and Miss Myra Nefflin.

The patent for golf clubs with steel shafts was issued in 1910.

GUNMAN CAPTURED — Nineteen-year-old Walter Molenkamp of Grand Rapids, Mich., is shown in a Chicago police station last night where he was held after police arrested him when he stepped from a chartered airplane at Midway Airport. He was picked up at the request of Grand Rapids police who accused him of having robbed a gas station of $1,400.

Absentee Voters Favor Republicans In County

Absentee votes in Allegany County did not reflect the Democratic trend which placed four minority party members in office.

Instead, the vote gave all Republican candidates healthy margins, the Board of Election Supervisors reports. Sixty-two civilians and 87 in the armed forces, a total of 149, cast absentee ballots.

U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall received 99 votes to 20 for his Democratic rival, Mayor Thomas D'Alessandro of Baltimore.

Trailing Senator Beall on the state level were James P. Devreux, GOP candidate for Governor, who polled 73 to 44 for J. Millard Tawes, the successful Democrat; John A. Derr, Republican for Comptroller, 85, to 29 for Louis L. Goldstein, the Democratic winner, and Robert A. Wallace, Republican for Attorney General, 77, to 37 for C. Ferdinand Sybert, Democrat who won re-election. Judge Stedman Prescott for Court of Appeals got 77.

Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde, GOP candidate for a fourth term, received 33 absentee votes to 24 for Democrat John R. Foley, who defeated him.

Absentee votes for the county candidates included the following: House of Delegates—Noel Speer Cook, 83; Estel C. Kelley, 78; Fred B. Driscoll, 77; Thomas N. Berry, 75; Lester B. Reed, 72; David J. Williams, 68, all Republicans; William Walsh, 45; Thomas F. Conlon Jr., 44; Graydon S. Dunlap, 25; Edward P. Flanagan, 24; George A. Boch, 24, all Democrats.

County Commissioners—William A. Wilson, 85; James Orr, 80; Simon W. Green, 72, all Republicans; John J. Rowan, 30; William J. Brode, 28; and John Tucker Mason, 23, all Democrats.

Sheriff—Edward R. Muir, Republican, 93, and Howard P. Loughrie, Democrat, 23.

Unopposed candidates received the following totals: State Senator Charles M. See, 87; Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Circuit Court, 96; James S. Getty, state's attorney, 82; A. Charles Stewart, register of wills, 91; Orphans Court Judges J. French Board, 7.

VanMeter, 88; Hugh Stevenson, 85, and William C. Abbott, 84, and County Treasurer James W. Bishop, 88, all Republicans, and Leslie J. Clark, undesignated candidate for the LaVale Zoning Board, 7.

Thank you for your generous support in Tuesday's election. I shall always strive to prove worthy of your trust in me.

William A. Wilson
County Commissioner

Escapes At Large

Pair Last Seen At Jail Wednesday

Believed To Have Hidden In Shower Room At Lockup

No trace of the latest prisoners to escape from the Allegany County jail had been found up to noon today.

The escapees are Howard Maurice Iser, 37, of the 300-block of Beall Street, who recently was sentenced to 10 years in the penitentiary for armed robbery, and assault and Robert Charles Bryant, 18, of 446 Lamont Street, who was serving a 90-day sentence for unauthorized use of an automobile.

After an inspection of the jail and talking with prisoners who were in the same tier with the two escapees certain facts stand out.

Last Seen Wednesday

The tier which Iser and Bryant were kept was occupied by two other prisoners, both young men serving 90-day sentences for driving cars on revoked drivers' permits.

They said the last time they saw Iser and Bryant was about 5 p. m. Wednesday while they were all lounging in the space known as the "bullpen." The two young men said they had been playing cards in one of their cells until 10 p. m. when the main lock which operates the sliding doors of the four cells was turned locking them in for the night.

The main lock was turned by a trustee who is usually accompanied by one of the deputy sheriffs on duty at the time. Between the one four-cell tier occupied by Iser, Bryant and two other men and a similar tier on the opposite side of the third floor a shower room is located.

The door of the shower room has not been locked recently, according to one deputy sheriff. The door is solid and State's Attorney James S. Getty is of the opinion the two men were hiding in the shower room. The shower system is not operative, and is used as a source of hot water on occasions, according to a deputy sheriff.

Sawed Through Bars

One steel bar about an inch in diameter was sawed through and the two men then entered a consultation room. In this room they sawed away two more steel bars on an outside window. State's Attorney Getty is of the firm belief the two men had outside help in their break. First, several saw blades were smuggled into the jail and Iser had $75 in cash given to him by relatives.

Getty also said there were no escape marks on the outside walls of the jail building which leads him to believe a rope was provided from an outside source. Only one prisoner in the county jail said the two men were in the building yesterday morning. The sheriff's office is discounting the man's statement as no other prisoner, deputy sheriff or trustee saw the two men. Neither of the two men in the same tier saw the two escapees after 5 p. m. Wednesday, they related.

No Roll Call

Deputies admitted that there is no roll call in the evening when the men are locked up at 10 p. m. or any counting of the number of prisoners. The deputies usually look into the tiers and see if each man is in his cell. No explanation has been offered as to why the men were not missed at breakfast time.

There are two overhead light bulbs in the ceiling of the "bullpen" but none in the cells. It would be possible for a prisoner to form blankets with paper or some other material to give the appearance of a man asleep in his bunk.

Getty said it is "inconceivable" that the men escaped in broad daylight. This leads him to think the men escaped at night. While being taken to the state (Continued on Page 10)

Delinquent Tax Reminder Made By Mrs. Roeder

City taxpayers can save 50 cents if they pay or start to pay their bill before January 1, Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder said today.

Bills not paid by the first of the year are classed as delinquent and tax notices for this category are to be mailed out January 10. A fee of 50 cents is charged for each notice, she said.

Mrs. Roeder said the practice is a routine one but that a reminder was believed necessary not only to save the fee cost but to help speed up payments by tardy taxpayers.

The finance commissioner said approximately 87 per cent of the $1,220,190 levy was collected as of October 31. Remaining to be collected, she continued, is $180,872.21, or slightly more than 13 per cent of the levy.

Way of Escape

The two prisoners who fled yesterday from the Allegany County jail made their way to freedom through the barred window which is shown from inside the lockup. The escapees, Howard M. Iser, 37, of 220 Beall Street, and 18-year-old Robert C. Bryant, 446 Lamont Street, are the object of a manhunt by city, state and federal authorities. The time of the escape has not been definitely determined, although it is presumed they broke out of jail some time before yesterday. Iser is believed to be armed and police describe him as 'dangerous' and urge caution in apprehending him.

Quarterly Bus Inspection Scheduled For This Month

The second quarterly inspection for Allegany County school buses will be conducted Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, November 24, 25, and 26.

Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of transportation for the Board of Education, said each bus owner is strongly urged to have his vehicle checked over in advance of the official inspection so that there will be a minimum of faulty items.

Ramey said the school board intends to be extremely strict on this inspection as the winter season is just ahead, and maximum precautions must be taken for the safety of the children. The schedule will be as follows: November 24: 8:45 a. m., Flintstone; 10:30 a. m., Piney Plains, and 1 p. m., Oldtown. November 25: 8:45 a. m., Fort Hill High School; 12:30 p. m., Old Bruce High School, and 1:45 p. m., Valley High School. November 26: 8:45 a. m., Mt. Savage High School, and 10 a. m., Beall High School.

There are approximately 7,000 of the total 18,000 students in public schools transported by bus.

A suggestion was made that perhaps a man could be named to the job from the Civil Service Board list and work several weeks with Fuller until he became familiar with the job.

Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson said an examination for the post should be held. At this point, Wilkinson said that when the Civil Service system was drawn up he was not consulted. "The system was drawn up by Orr (James), Lemmert (William H.) and the attorney (Gorman E. Getty) and See (State Senator Charles M. See). They were not interested in the ordinary county employees but only wanted to take care of some of the top jobs," Wilkinson declared.

Camper Club Seeks Members

A report on the current membership drive featured a recent meeting of the Camper Club at Allegany High School, according to John Yoder, president, who said an effort is being made to enroll all AHS alumni.

It was announced that the club had assisted in defraying the expenses of the Allegany students who participated in the recent All-State Chorus and Orchestra program in Baltimore. The next meeting will be held Thursday evening, November 20, at the school.

Cleaning Of City Reservoir Begins

The Water Department has begun the annual cleaning of Fort Hill Reservoir and will repair several cracks in the concrete which have developed in the past year. Commissioner G. Ray Light said there will be no water in the reservoir until Monday.

Charges Set Against Man In 'Mugging'

George Keller Said To Have Implicated Another Resident

A charge of armed robbery is expected to be placed against a local man in connection with the beating and robbery of three persons Wednesday night.

Being questioned in the State's Attorney's office today is George R. Keller, 23, of 239 Henderson Avenue.

Authorities said Keller has implicated another local young man in the attack, and a warrant has been issued for his arrest. The other man is believed to be in the Washington area, police state.

Picked Up On Hunch

Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn, acting on a hunch from information received in the investigation, picked up Keller yesterday afternoon. He was assisted in the arrest by Lt. Raymond R. Johnston.

The victims were assaulted in three different attacks. The most seriously hurt was Joseph A. McKenzie, 74, of 208 Columbia Street, who was jumped from behind on Knox Street. He was robbed of $12 and badly beaten by two men, police said.

McKenzie was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital, where attendants report his condition as "just fair." He sustained a fractured nose, fractured jaw and multiple bruises about the face and body.

The other two who were attacked were Herman Dicken, 58, of 217 Bedford Street, who also was robbed of $12, and "Buzz" Zink, 49, of 619 North Mechanic Street. The latter had no money in his possession, police were told.

Assaulted In Dark

All three of the victims said they were assaulted in dark areas and were unable to give more than partial descriptions of their assailants. Both the attackers were said to be in their early 20s, and husky. One was said to be wearing a light jacket and the other a dark coat or jacket.

The attack on McKenzie occurred on Knox Street in front of the Allegany Feed Store. The victim told police two men came up from behind and assaulted him, knocking him unconscious. They took $12 in cash, a Western Maryland Railway pass and other cards from his wallet, police said.

Zink was attacked in front of St. Patrick's Catholic Church on North Centre Street. He told police the men grabbed him from behind, hit him and knocked him down, but a tractor-trailer truck came by and apparently frightened the pair away. They ran down Market Street.

The third assault occurred on Bedford Street in front of First Methodist Church. Dicken, the victim this time, said he was on his way home from work and noticed two husky men standing on Centre Street near Bedford. He told authorities the men grabbed him from behind and when he handed over his cash they freed him and fled.

The schedule will be as follows: November 24: 8:45 a. m., Flintstone; 10:30 a. m., Piney Plains, and 1 p. m., Oldtown.

November 25: 8:45 a. m., Fort Hill High School; 12:30 p. m., Old Bruce High School, and 1:45 p. m., Valley High School.

November 26: 8:45 a. m., Mt. Savage High School, and 10 a. m., Beall High School.

There are approximately 7,000 of the total 18,000 students in public schools transported by bus.

A suggestion was made that perhaps a man could be named to the job from the Civil Service Board list and work several weeks with Fuller until he became familiar with the job.

Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson said an examination for the post should be held. At this point, Wilkinson said that when the Civil Service system was drawn up he was not consulted. "The system was drawn up by Orr (James), Lemmert (William H.) and the attorney (Gorman E. Getty) and See (State Senator Charles M. See). They were not interested in the ordinary county employees but only wanted to take care of some of the top jobs," Wilkinson declared.

Former Resident Gets 'Reprieve' As Wedding Gift

A former resident of this city was given a 'reprieve' this morning from a 60-day jail sentence on condition that he get married. The man was given a hearing on a charge of being drunk on the streets before Trial Magistrate Morris Baron, who suspended the sentence after the law violator informed Baron that he was to be married this afternoon.

Now a resident of Washington, Pa., the man extended an invitation to Baron to attend the wedding "feast."

Bids On Thruway Phase To Be Asked

Bids for the construction of the first part of the Cumberland Thruway will be advertised this year, sooner than scheduled, as a result of a change in programming State Roads Commission projects.

The switch was approved this morning by the Board of Allegany County Commissioners after the proposal was presented by John J. McMullen, this city.

Involved will be the delay for only about four months a 1.38-mile stretch between Mt. Savage and Morantown on Route 36.

The SRC noted that program for advertising this year in the 12-year road program were three projects on Route 36.

The state will be able to advertise a 3.05-mile stretch from Corrigansville to Barreilville and a 1.65-mile link between Barreilville and Mt. Savage.

However, the SRC explained one of the permanent ramp con-

CIVITANS OPEN CAKE SALE—Cumberland Civilian Club last night opened its annual sale of fruit cakes, proceeds from which are applied to assist in the training of mentally retarded children. The club has conducted the campaign the past five years and at last night's meeting at Central YMCA, Mrs. Marshall Twigg, center, bought the first cake as she has done each year. Also shown are Clifford C. Minke, left, chairman of the cake sale committee, and Richard L. Blake, Civitan president. The sale will be conducted between now and Christmas with house-to-house canvasses set for Saturday, November 15 and Saturday, November 22. Donations have been made in the past to Cumberland, Westport and Frostburg chapters of Friends Awaits of Handicapped Children; scholarships provided for teachers at the University of Maryland for special training; and last year funds were given to the Georgetown Clinic for the mentally retarded.

Ball Field Proposed By John J. Long

Street Commissioner John J. Long said today he is proposing construction of a Little League baseball park on the old ballfield in Constitution Park in connection with the development of a recreation area there.

Long said he will ask the Mayor and Council to advertise for bids Monday on a fence for the proposed ball field and one section of bleachers. This will be the first step in determining cost of such a venture; funds for which would come from the Recreation Bond issue.

In conjunction with the ball park idea, Long also proposed that blacktopped basketball areas be provided as well as two hard-surfaced tennis courts.

It is hoped that at least the ball park could be ready for operation by spring if plans are approved and money made available from the bond issue which is for improvements of this kind. In addition to cleaning up the area, the plan would improve appearance of the park and attract more youngsters to the park's facilities, Long said.

The Little League proposal would not interfere with plans of any other group. The local Dapper Dan organization has plans for a Little League Park at the site of the old Mid-City ball field upon completion of the local flood control project.

On another matter, Long said it is also planned to replace the protective screen for spectators at Penn Avenue Field with a different type. It is felt that the present screen does not give adequate protection and as a safety measure should be replaced before some one is injured.

County Dog Warden Gives Monthly Report

Burza Hanlin, Westernport, today submitted his report for October on his activities as dog warden.

Hanlin said he sold dog tags for 144 male animals, 54 female dogs and two kennels. The income from this source was $272, less the fee of 25 cents on each license for Hanlin. He also made 125 calls. 135 dogs were picked up and 200 pounds of dog food were used in feeding dogs kept until claimed.

Civitan Meet Set

The two-day fall council meeting of the Chesapeake District of Civitan International starting tomorrow in Frederick will be attended by a delegation from the Cumberland club.

that there is considerable involvement with the Western Maryland trackage at Mt. Savage and the state will not be able to advertise the Mt. Savage to Barreilville sector this year.

The SRC explained that railroad officials have been most cooperative, but the relocation of trackage and difficulties in making grades fit into the new trackage makes the completion of the engineering and subsequent acquisition of right-of-way impossible before the end of the year.

However, the Mt. Savage-Morantown link will be advertised in about four months, early in 1959.

Norman M. Pritchett, chief engineer for the SRC, has proposed as a substitute for project programming the start of the cloverleaf at the beginning of the Thruway at Lindernville.

This section would actually be one of the permanent ramp con-

Explorer Unit To Get Charter

The charter of Explorer Post 92, newest organization of older Boy Scouts in Polomac Council, will be presented during ceremonies Sunday night in Emmanuel Methodist Church.

The post, sponsored by the church's Methodist Men, will conduct services beginning at 7:30 p. m. with assistance by the post committee.

Calvin Carter, head of the sponsoring group, will preside assisted by Fred Goss, Explorer advisor.

Rev. Harold R. McClay, pastor, will give the invocation and William Hahn Jr. will read the scripture.

The charter will be presented by Willis V. Smith, Potomac Council scout executive.

Refreshments will be served by Explorer Scouts to those attending in the social hall.

Assists With Play—Miss Virginia Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Morris, 306 Fayette Street, is a member of the production staff for a play which is being presented this evening at Grinnell (Iowa) College. A freshman student at the college, she is a 1958 graduate of Pottsville (Pa.) High School.

Surplus Food Registration Now Possible

Allegany County persons who are eligible for surplus food allotments may register at the Salvation Army, Associated Charities and Welfare Board in Cumberland and at the various Red Cross Chapter offices in county towns.

Grant Wiebel, who will supervise the distribution of the food stuffs, said he has been notified by the U.S. Department of Agriculture that a carload of buller has been shipped here from Chicago. It will be placed in cold storage until the distribution starts in December.

Wiebel inquired if the county roads trucks should be used. Commissioner William A. Wilson said he felt the roads trucks are needed for road repair work.

Wilkinson said the cost to the county in hiring private truckers would be much greater than if the county vehicles were used. He added that one truck and perhaps two men would be able to handle the hauling.

No final decision was made. Wiebel will contact local AFL-CIO and Teamsters Union officials to ascertain what aid they will give in the program. Union officials had pressed for the surplus food program last spring when they cited the need in the county.

See Named To Council

State Sen. Charles M. See of this county has been appointed to the Legislative Council, the between-sessions investigating and study group of the General Assembly.

Sen. See said he received the notice in a letter this morning from State Sen. Louis L. Goldstein, president of the Senate and chairman of the council.

Sen. See will fill the unexpired term of Sen. Jacob Ramsburg who resigned to become mayor of Frederick.

The next session of the Legislative Council will be held Wednesday in Baltimore.

This marks the first time in his 20 years in Annapolis that Sen. See has been named to the important council.

Students Make Honor Grades

Students from Cumberland and Keyser have made the honor roll at Monseheart High School, Mooseheart, Ill., for the first six-week grading period.

A member of the freshman class from Cumberland making honor roll is Joyce Fulk, who is sponsored at the school by Cumberland Lodge 271.

From Keyser is a senior, Louise Smith sponsored by the Keyser Lodge 662.

Workers Can Apply For Strike Benefits

Members of Local 180 of the Glass and Ceramics Workers Union can sign up for the second week of strike benefits, according to Arthur M. Maness, financial secretary of the local.

Registration is to be made at the picket line at the North Branch plant of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, Maness said.

Strike Issue Settlement Possible Here

Major Points In Dispute No Concern Of Glass Plant

In a letter to employees of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's Works 7 today, the plant manager said none of the major strike issues concern the Cumberland plant and, in his opinion, local differences or problems "are possible of rather prompt solution."

However, R. M. Hainsfurther continued, no date has been set for continuing negotiations.

Hainsfurther said at the recent Louisville conference, the company offered to meet the general wage increase settlement and pension benefit settlement which had been made by Libbey Owens Ford Glass Company. This offer would have increased all rates for Works 7 hourly employees 12 cents an hour this year and 12 cents an hour next year, giving Cumberland the largest increase of any Pittsburgh Plate plant connected with negotiations.

He further stated that since the main problems at issue concern three sections of the general labor contract and over-manning, which are of primary concern to the company because of practices and inefficiencies at other glass plants, but not at Cumberland, the window glass plants, the company had offered to settle the general economic wage package on a national basis, and then bargain other matters in dispute on a plant by plant basis.

Letter Sent To Employees

The letter from the company was sent to all Cumberland employees yesterday.

Hainsfurther added that there are no immediate plans for draining the tank at the local plant. However, holding the tank cannot continue indefinitely. If it is drained it will take eight to 10 weeks after the strike to resume production, he said.

The letter to employees stated that when Louisville negotiations terminated, the union (United Glass and Ceramics Workers) was still asking for an economic package in excess of that agreed to with the L-O-F Company, and in addition asked a one-year contract and elimination of the no-strike provisions and arbitration from the contract. These are both different from the L-O-F settlement which has a two-year contract containing a no-strike provision and arbitration, the letter said.

Hainsfurther's letter points out that L-O-F does not have the competition which confronts PPG from small fabricators because of the exclusive arrangement between L-O-F and General Motors.

Had To Have Relief

"The present dispute is based upon a carefully considered business judgment, arrived at before the negotiations began in Miami, that the company had to have relief from unjustifiable practices in plants other than Cumberland which were more and more hamstringing the company's ability to meet the competition which it faces and which is already serious and getting more so. We had hoped to obtain relief in these areas without the necessity of a strike but were fully prepared to take a strike if relief could not otherwise be obtained. We were also under the impression that L-O-F was determined to obtain such relief and was prepared to take a strike, if necessary, for that purpose. The fact that they saw fit to desert our common program of obtaining relief has not altered the determination of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company to obtain the substance of the change which is requested in Sections 18, 23 and 27 (incentives, distribution of work, changes of operation) and the elimination of excess manpower. We believe that in the interest of the future of the glass operations of the company and to some extent to the United States glass industry as a whole, and most important in the interest of the security of the employees working in these operations and the welfare of the communities of which Pittsburgh Plate is a part, the company has no alternative but to pursue this issue to a satisfactory conclusion."

Local Problems Presented

Hainsfurther's letter said that just prior to the end of Louisville negotiations, the Cumberland local union wage committee had presented a list of Cumberland problems for the company's consideration. Because of termination of negotiations, however, it was not possible to discuss these fully.

Then he added: "Although we do not agree on all points presented by the local wage committee, we believe that any differences or problems concerning Cumberland are possible of rather prompt solution. It is indeed tragic that it is necessary under these circumstances to keep our particular plant shut down, causing employees, their families and the community to suffer."

Clerical force at Works 7 was cut to 50 per cent November 1. There are 150 still working at plant including 37 maintenance men, staff and clerical workers. There are 600 employees affected by the contract negotiations.

PTA Backing Higher Pay For Teachers

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers resolved last night to support legislation to improve salaries of public school teachers.

The organization proposed a State minimum salary scale of $4,000 to $8,000 for teachers holding at least a bachelor's degree.

Also supported was a $3,800 to $5,800 minimum for teachers holding a regular first grade or higher certificate and a $3,400 to $5,400 for those holding a nondegree emergency certificate.

The proposed new scales would amount to a $400 boost and is the second half of an $800 increase originally proposed by the congress and the Maryland State Teachers Assn. The Legislature voted a $400 hike last spring over the veto of Gov. McKeldin.

The pay question was one of the legislative proposals put before delegates yesterday at the two-day annual convention opened.

Earlier the congress passed a resolution favoring reduction of class sizes "as a means of improving the quality of education and the morale of teachers."

Dr. Thomas G. Pullen Jr., State superintendent of schools, suggested during a discussion of the motion that 25 pupils should be the maximum class size.

Investigation Of Highway Group Urged

BALTIMORE (AP)—A Baltimore delegate says he will sponsor legislation in the Maryland 1959 General Assembly calling for an investigation of the State Roads Commission.

Del. Murray Abramson (D-Balto 4th) told a political club meeting last night he planned to revive a proposal to probe the operation of the commission.

Similar legislation was introduced in the 1955 Legislature, Abramson recalled, after the issue was raised in the 1954 campaign for governor. H. C. Byrd, the unsuccessful Democratic candidate in that campaign, had accused the Republican-controlled commission of favoritism, waste and extravagance.

Called By Vote

Abramson said the investigation move failed by one State Senate vote in 1955 because Republicans solidly opposed it and "a few renegade Democrats, with their peculiar reasons — or perhaps I should say particular reasons — rushed to their rescue." He did not elaborate.

"I feel that with the overwhelming Democratic majority in both houses now, we're going to be able to complete the job we started then," Abramson said.

A roads commission probe could have overtones in Baltimore's mayoralty election next spring.

Gov. McKeldin, who headed the State government when the 1955 probe was rejected, is considered a likely candidate for mayor in 1959. He was barred by law from seeking a third term as governor.

Abramson disclosed his plan in a speech to the Trenton Democratic Club, the northwest Baltimore headquarters of party leader James H. (Jack) Pollack.

Some Changes Made

Pollack is a staunch supporter of Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, who is expected to seek a fourth term after losing last Tuesday in a try for the U. S. Senate.

After the failure of the 1955 legislation, the roads commission did come in for some investigation by a McKeldin-appointed commission after a scandal developed in the acquisition of rights-of-way in Prince Georges County.

The Commission on State Programs, Organization and Finance issued a report calling for sweeping changes in the administration of the SRC's highway construction program.

Some of the commission's recommendations have been put into effect, but other key proposals such as the replacement of the three-man SRC by a single director of a new Department of State Roads have not been enacted.

The Trenton club's gathering was a victory meeting to celebrate a clean sweep of its legislative ticket in Tuesday's election.

Overall, Democrats increased their legislative majorities Tuesday from 21-8 to 26-3 in the State Senate and from 98-25 to 116-7 in the House of Delegates.

penitentiary yesterday, Harry W. Parker, 50, of Oldtown, told a deputy that Iser had a gun in his possession. "Are you kidding," the deputy inquired. "No, I'm not," Parker replied.

Office Notified

By that time the cruiser car was about 10 miles east of Baltimore. The deputy stopped at the first available telephone and alerted the sheriff's office. By that time the escape had been discovered.

The sheriff's office reported that when the men were unreported about 11:10 a. m. when the "chow line" formed in the basement section. A trusty said he would take their food upstairs to them. The trusty notified the deputy sheriff on duty he could not find the men.

A search was started in the jail building but no trace was found of the men. The sawed bars were seen and at 12:45 p. m. State and city police notified. This was almost two hours after the initial discovery of the men being missing.

The two men become the ninth and tenth prisoners who have made their escape from the main jail building in the last eight or 10 years. Two of these were nabbed in the courtyard when they were unable to scale the 30-foot high walls. A number of men who have been trustys have walked away from the jail while doing work outside.

Volka Martini Mix Costs Man $100 Fine

MONROE, Wis. (UPI)—Judge Marshal Peterson knows how to mix vodka martini as well as the next man and his knowledge cost restaurant owner Paul Wilson $100.

Wilson, who is licensed to sell only beer, told Peterson the vodka and vermouth in his kitchen was used for cooking purposes.

When Peterson asked Wilson to name some recipes in which he used the strong stuff Wilson couldn't name any and Peterson lowered the boom.

Woman To Try 11th Time In Driver Test

BURY ST. EDMUNDS, England (UPI)—Mrs. Mildred Elvin is a determined woman. A magistrate fined Mrs. Elvin, who already had spent $280 on fruitless driving lessons, $2.85 for trying to bribe a driving examiner to pass her after her eighth unsuccessful test. Then Mrs. Elvin, who had since failed tests 9 and 10, hurried off to prepare for test 11.

Rock 'n Roll Called Military Influence

BERLIN (UPI)—The East German Communists accused NATO Thursday night of using an American rock 'n' roll band to influence West German youth towards militarism. The East German news service ADN carried an open letter from Communist artists urging West German artists to defend the German national cultural heritage against the influence of NATO's philosophy and culture.

Lost Hunter Decides To Quit Woods

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—A 40-year-old hunter who was lost for two days and two nights in some thick woods near here came to a house in the Cheat Lake area, cold and hungry.

Harold Simpson, a night watchman at the new West Virginia University medical center, had been the object of an intensive search by as many as 200 persons. Planes of the Civil Air Patrol were used in the search.

"There'll be no more hunting for me," Simpson told authorities later. "That cured me."

Simpson said he had matches for a fire his first night in the thick woods, Tuesday. But he had none Wednesday night and was drenched by a cold rain. The temperature was below freezing both nights. He was treated at a hospital and taken home Thursday.

Monongalia County Sheriff Charles J. Whiston said Simpson probably walked in circles much of the time after becoming confused and frightened.

Labor Opposes Tax On Pay

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore General Assembly to fight any more Council of AFL-CIO union request by the city or counties for a tax has gone on record against permission to impose an earnings tax on the city's proposed payroll tax.

In a strongly worded resolution passed last night, the council said it was against the tax because of what it called "inequities imposed on the low and average wage earner."

The council called the proposal the "worst kind of taxation" and urged labor's representatives in a payroll tax.

A commission named by Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro earlier this week suggested an earnings tax of 7 per cent as part of a new revenue package it said was needed to balance the budget.

The Legislature would have to grant authority for imposition of the tax.

FSTC Drama Group Shows Use Of Video

FROSTBURG — Alpha Psi Omega, drama fraternity at Frostburg State Teachers College, yesterday re-enacted the program "Academic Highlights at Frostburg," which the group presented recently over the closed circuit TV in Washington County. The presentation was to instruct students in the fundamentals of producing a television show.

Under the direction of Miss Dorothy Stone White, the assembly, "Let's Give A TV Show," was performed in the nature of a demonstration. Scripts for the entire program were distributed to the audience.

Preceding the actual program, a demonstration and discussion was given to explain the movements of actors and the handling of objects on television. This pointed out the necessity of moving slowly to avoid blurring.

Following the demonstration the re-enactment was given. Students in the assembly included William Brown, Suzanne Harrison, Marilyn Hitchcock, Wanda Tate, Donald Turley and Mary Elizabeth Wheeler.

Depicting Wanda Tate making out a schedule, the script presented the other five members of the cast as advisors to her from various departments at FSTC.

All of the departments of the college were represented: Art, English, Health, Physical Education, Mathematics, Psychology, Science and Social Sciences. The set was the same as that used in the TV broadcast and was in the form of a book case with "Academic Highlights at Frostburg" written across the books.

Writers of the script included Mary Elizabeth Wheeler, Joan Sweeney, Suzanne Harrison, William Brown and Donald Turley. Following the program a preview of the productions "Mantel Tower" and "The Lonesome Trail" was given. They will be presented Monday and Tuesday at 8:15 p. m. in Compton Hall.

Charles I. Sager, music department, conducted the Maryland and Madrigal Singers during the previews.

Visit Scheduled

WESTERNPORT — Mrs. Ethel Zimmerman, of Cumberland, deputy grand lecturer, will pay an official visit to Bethlehem Chapter 14, Order of Eastern Star, today at 8 p. m. in the OOF Hall. Mrs. Lillian Fazenberger, worthy matron, and Arthur J. Frankland, worthy patron, will preside.

Kermit Wildman Given Promotion At Luke Plant

LUKE — The promotion of Kermit K. Wildman to the position of machine superintendent of Nos. 6, 7, 8 and 9 paper machines at the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company was announced by William M. Thompson, assistant manager in charge of production.

Wildman, who started to work at the Luke mill November 16, 1926, as a machine room helper, has held a number of important positions, the most recent as a key member of the staff of John M. Clabaugh who retired November 1 as paper mill superintendent.

Because of the pending installation of two large paper machines in connection with the mill's expansion program, the paper mill was reorganized recently into separate production units: the Upper Mill and the Lower Mill.

Paper Machines Numbers 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 will compose the Lower Mill and machines Numbers 6 and 7 and the two new machines Numbers 8 and 9 will make up the Upper Mill.

Wildman is a resident of Luke and lives on Grant Street. He and Mrs. Wildman have three children.

4-H Girl Gets Record Price

JACKSON'S MILL, W. Va. — The champion Hereford steer auctioned at the 11th annual West Virginia 4-H and FFA Baby Beef and Fat Lamb Show and Sale, shown by Patsy Weatherholz, a Hardy County 4-H'er, was sold for $378.63 at the rate of $32.50 a hundredweight.

The buyer was Roland Mullinix of Woodbine, Md.

Some 78 baby beefs were auctioned off and they brought a total of $22,339.13, an average of $30.12 a hundredweight.

In the senior girls' division of the 4-H baby beef showmanship contest, Helen Groves of Grant County was first and Patsy Weatherholz placed third. Top winner in the junior girls' division was Jane Cunningham of Hardy County. Judith Brown of Preston County was third. Miss Cunningham received a pen and pencil set from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

Another Hardy County girl, Stella Halterman, placed first in the 4-H fat lamb showmanship contest. In the FFA fat lamb showmanship event, the top three placings were taken by Larry Heck, Ward Teter and Orlando Dice, all of the Circleville FFA chapter in Pendleton County.

FFBL To Hear Banker Talk At Franklin

FRANKLIN, W. Va. — William H. Johnson, of Baltimore, will speak at the Farming For Better Living dinner to be held in the EUB Church basement here Wednesday at 6:30 p. m.

Johnson is extension representative of the Farm Credit Banks of Baltimore, and as such he serves in the capacity of director of information for the Federal Land Bank of Baltimore, the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Baltimore and the Baltimore Bank for Cooperatives.

His experience with farm credit consists of acting as a land bank appraiser, Secretary of the Production Credit Corporation of Baltimore, joint field representative for the Land Bank and Production Credit Corporation, and as extension representative.

Johnson was president of a local Chamber of Commerce for two years, and was a charter member and past president of a Rotary Club, and chairman of the county Red Cross chapter. He also served as state chairman of the Maryland Farm-City Week.

The dinner is held each year in honor of the enrollees in the FFBL program who complete their projects, and this year all 70 enrollees will be eligible to attend. Also invited to attend are donors to the prize list and members of the Franklin Lions Club which helps sponsor the dinner.

Johnson will be introduced by John M. Dice, who has served as toastmaster for the FFBL dinner for many years. Dice will also introduce others who will appear on the program.

Other features of the program will include welcoming remarks by Dr. H. Byrd Teter, president of the Franklin Lions Club and short remarks by Robert Templeton, of Elkins, FFBL director for the Monongahela Power Company.

Invocation will be pronounced by Rev. S. J. Westfall, pastor of Franklin EUB Church, and group singing will be led by Mrs. Olin Adamson.

Awards will be presented by the new president of the FFBL Council, Joseph E. Sites.

The meal will be served by ladies of the Franklin EUB Church.

The Farming For Better Living program was launched in Pendleton County in 1946 and has as its purpose the improvement of farming practices and the development of better intra-county relationships.

The County FFBL Council has been holding weekly meetings for the past couple of weeks for the purpose of picking winners in the contest and to make arrangements for the dinner.

NEW PASTOR—Rev. Thomas J. Fannon, a native of Mt. Savage, is the new pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Lonaconing. He succeeds Rev. Charles W. Bogan who assumed pastorate duties at St. Mary's in Cumberland. Ordained in 1941, Father Fannon served as assistant pastor of St. Charles Church, Pikesville, for six years and was assistant later at St. Rose of Lima, Brooklyn, St. Vincent's and St. Andrew's in Baltimore. He was chaplain of St. Elizabeth's Home, Baltimore, and the Maryland Training School for Boys in Baltimore County.

Lonaconing Veterans Day Program Planned Tuesday

LONACONING — "Veterans Day" will be observed Tuesday with a parade and program. William R. Nolan, chairman; James Berry, commander of James P. Love Post #2, American Legion; Harold William Moyer and Melvin James, commander of Alvin C. Neal Post #2820, Veterans of Foreign Wars, are planning the observance.

Virgil Alexander has been appointed master of ceremonies. Opening prayer will be given by Rev. Leslee E. Schwindl, vicar of St. Peter's Episcopal Church. The Lonaconing City Band will play appropriate selections. Leslie J. Clark, attorney at Cumberland and Lonaconing, and commanding officer of the 372nd Military Police, United States Army Reserves, will give the "Veterans Day" address.

Presentation of wreaths at the Soldiers Monument and Honor Roll will be made by Central Elementary School children, the Ladies Auxiliary of the VFW and the VFW and American Legion posts. Mrs. Betty G. Holshey, senior vice president, will make the auxiliary presentation for Mrs. Helena Nolan, president.

Berry and James will make wreath presentations for their organizations. "Memorial To All Veterans" will be given by Nolan and the "Star Spangled Banner" will be played by the band. The salute to the dead will be given by a firing squad of the VFW and members of the 372nd Military Police, USAR unit.

Taps will be sounded by William Barnard, VFW bugler. Benediction will be offered by Father Schwindl.

At 10:30 a. m. the marching groups will form at the VFW home on Hanekamp Street to parade to First Presbyterian Church. Legionnaires will assist Central Elementary School students marching on Main Street to the Soldiers Monument and Honor Roll. A parade back to Hanekamp Street will follow the program.

Rev. and Mrs. Carl Clapp, Rev. George Wehler and Rev. Fogle. The next session of the ministerium will be held December 2 at St. Mark's United Church of Christ in Cumberland. Rev. George M. Wehler, pastor of Salem United Church in Frostburg, will speak.

Rotary Club Pancake Sale November 22

FROSTBURG — Peter Lukas, chairman of the second annual pancake project of the Frostburg Rotary Club, announced the affair will be held November 22 from 7 a. m. until 8 p. m. in the American Legion Home.

Proceeds from last year's affair event were donated to the library fund of the city. This year's proceeds will go to the Boosters Club of Beall High School which recently installed a scoreboard for football on the athletic field.

According to Lukas, a Pancake Queen contest will also be held this year with all single girls 16 years and over eligible to participate. The queen will be chosen by patrons on the day of the pancake festival. The winner will receive a number of gifts.

Candidates may secure application blanks at the Times-News office, Broadway or phone Frostburg 655 for information. All contestants will appear on Television Channel 3, Harrisonburg, Va., preceding the voting. Deadline for applying will be November 12.

Assisting Lukas are Harry Ott, John Watson, Wayne Hill and Earl Bishop.

Report Given
Paul Haberlein, chief of the Frostburg Fire Department, has released the monthly report of fires for October.

During the month the department answered three alarms and one standby. A barn in Finzel, a truck, and a grass fire were recorded.

The standby was for the Shaft Fire Department while its truck went to the assistance of Barton. Frostburg dispatched a truck to the Shaft station.

Haberlein also pointed out that there were no alarms during September. The total number of calls answered so far in 1958 is 65.

Ballot Clarified In Garrett County

OAKLAND—Congressman-elect John R. Foley lost Garrett County by 805 votes, according to Lewis C. Hulson, Democratic campaign chairman for the county.

He said unofficial but rechecked tabulations showed that DeWitt S. Hyde (R) received 3,047 votes to Foley's 2,242.

Unofficial returns on which Wednesday's stories were based credited Hyde with 4,423 votes and Foley 2,304. These figures were obtained from the Garrett County election supervisors.

Young Adult Circle Elects New Officers

LONACONING—A Young Adult Circle was organized at First Presbyterian Church this week and an election of officers took place as follows: Mrs. Marion Stafford, president; Mrs. Leah Marsh, vice president; Mrs. Louise Emch, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Alma Moore, chairman of program; Mrs. Inez Kiddy, of mission; Mrs. Earl Stafford Literature; Mrs. Audrey Sloan chairman of refreshments.

Miss Eleanor Culbertson was in charge of the devotions. Membership in the circle is open to all young women of the church.

4-H Clubs Meet

The Senior and Junior 4-H clubs held their annual Achievement Day program Tuesday evening at the VFW home. Miss Nancy Marsteller, Allegany County 4-H leader, spoke on "Cooperation in 4-H Work with Mothers and Daughters." She also discussed the County Achievement Day program to be held at St. Mary's Hall, Cumberland, November 13.

The program consisted of a duet by Carol Foote and Sandra Stevenson, and group singing. Officers elected for the coming year in the Junior 4-H Club were installed by Mrs. James Crabbe, leader, as follows: President, Florence Brown; Louise Smith, vice president; Mary E. Keyes, treasurer and Donna Thomas, secretary.

Displays of clothing, canned foods, baked goods and handicraft showed the clubs had an outstanding year of project work. A bus will take a large group of the girls to the Achievement Day program in Cumberland where several will receive awards for their work.

Present were Harry Reiber, Mrs. Raymond Grand, Edith Crowe, Miss Sara Snelson, Kenneth and Richard Grandstaff, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Evans and daughter, Jane Ann, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reiber and son, Lester, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Reiber and Mrs. Helen Dillon.

State Deer Kill Reported High

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Conservation Commission said today how and arrow hunters in West Virginia have made more deer kills this year than all through the 1957 season.

West Virginia bow season began Oct. 17 and continues through Jan. 3. As of Nov. 1, 33 kills were reported, compared to 19 for the entire 1957 season.

The commission said 11 of the deer were taken in Hardy County and 14 of the 33 were bucks. The largest kill reported was an 11-point buck taken by an Ohio resident in Hancock County.

Church Arranges Evening Devotions

LONACONING—First Methodist Church will hold services at 7:30 p. m. on the four Sundays in November to emphasize missions.

Rev. Carl E. Price, pastor, has arranged for guest speakers November 9, 16, 23 and 30. Films on the work of the church in other lands will be shown also.

The annual Thanksgiving service will be held Thursday, November 27, with the place and speaker to be announced later.

It is 801 miles from Brownsville, on the Gulf of Mexico in Texas, to the northwest corner of the Texas Panhandle.

IT'S THAT TIME AGAIN — Sooner or later you'll have to face it, so the Internal Revenue Service displayed this enlargement of the 1958 individual income tax return Form 1040 yesterday in Washington. "Models" are Marie Brown (left) of Asheville, N. C., and Stephany Erb of Wilkes-Barre, Pa. IRS said there are no great changes in the tax form. Federal taxpayers with income of less than $10,000 may file on the simple card Form 1040A, previously restricted to incomes up to $5,000. Over 60 million packages containing forms, instructions and schedules will be put in the mails in late December. (AP Photofax)

Bailey Named C&A Manager

PARSONS—James E. Bailey, Cumberland and Allegany Gas Company assistant foreman in Cumberland, has been named manager of the local office, succeeding C. G. Shaffer who retired at the age of 65 last week.

The 42-year-old Bailey has been employed by C&A for 18 years. He started as a laborer in Cumberland in 1940.

C. C. Robbins, district manager, said Bailey will be responsible for providing gas service to some 1,000 customers in the Parsons area—Davis, Hendricks, Montrose, St. George, Thomas and Parsons.

A native of Weston, Bailey's service with C&A was interrupted for about 30 months from 1943 to 1945 when he served in the Army Air Force. Part of his tour of duty in the Air Force took him to the China-Burma-India theater of operations.

Prior to his span of duty in the Air Force, he had been made utilityman for C&A in Cumberland. He returned to the same position in 1945 and in 1947 was made street serviceman. In 1951 he was promoted to gang foreman and moved up to assistant foreman three years ago.

He and his wife, Evangeline, and their 15-year-old daughter, Elizabeth, now live at 717 Bedford Street, Cumberland. They will move here as soon as accommodations can be obtained.

Slabtown Youths Nabbed In Theft

Two 15-year-old Slabtown boys were being held today in connection with the breaking and entering of a Mt. Savage restaurant yesterday.

Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police, said all of the $2,000 in merchandise and cash taken by the youths from Shine's Restaurant has been recovered.

The lads were picked up about 5 p. m. yesterday by Sgt. Baker and are being detained in juvenile quarters at the Allegany County Infirmary.

Taken in the theft were 50 cartons of cigars, eight boxes of cigars, a case of potato chips, quantities of .22 caliber rifle bullets, shotgun shells, fingernail files, chewing gum, candy, pocket knives, bracelets, pen and pencil sets, necklaces and about $10 in cash.

Richard D. Uhl, owner of the restaurant, discovered the theft yesterday at 7 a. m. and notified State Police.

To gain entrance, the youths had to break the glass and wooden dividers from the upper glassed section of the front door and enter that way since they were unable to unlock the door. The two carried all of the loot through the door opening as they left the building.

Sgt. Baker said all of the loot was found at their homes.

Carol Windemuth Observes Birthday

MT. SAVAGE—Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Windemuth entertained recently in honor of their daughter, Carol Ann, with a birthday party. Refreshments were served and games and dancing furnished the entertainment.

Parole Violator Given Sentence In Romney Court

ROMNEY — Judge Harlan M. Calhoun yesterday sentenced a Hampshire County man to a term in the West Virginia penitentiary for violating a parole imposed after being convicted of a breaking and entering of a Rio store.

Sentenced to serve from one to ten years was Virgil R. Ludwig, 21, who had been ordered by Judge Calhoun to stay away from places where alcoholic beverages are sold. Ludwig was intoxicated when arrested recently, court attaches said.

In other action yesterday, Judge Calhoun ruled that each of 12 Hampshire juveniles will be tried individually in connection with a youth crime wave which was broken up recently by West Virginia State Police.

Each of the 12 was placed under strict probation terms, the jurist ordering that they were to be in their homes after 8 p. m. daily, and by 10 p. m. on Saturdays, unless accompanied by their parents.

The youths were also ordered not to associate with each other.

Benefit Planned

Public Utility Property Tax Shares Distributed

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — The state auditor's office said today it has distributed $6,908,875 to West Virginia counties and municipalities as their share of public utility property taxes for the first half of the year.

The taxes were levied on a total assessed valuation of $683,705,000 set by the Board of Public Works for the 1958 tax year.

Total taxes for the year come to $17,275,887, of which $8,709,844 has been collected. The difference between the latter figure and the amount distributed to taxing bodies this week will be distributed with second half collection next May when final receipts are in.

The first-half distribution is calculated on only an approximate basis, with final settlement made after all the taxes have been collected.

Amounts Listed
Amounts received by the various counties based on the assessed value of utility property within the county include:

Barbour 13,000, Berkeley 75,000, Boone 100,000, Braxton 50,000, Brooke 55,000, Cabell 300,000, Calhoun 25,000, Clay 25,000, Doddridge 85,000, Fayette 325,000, Gilmer 50,000, Grant 9,000, Greenbrier 110,000, Hampshire 30,000, Hancock 40,000, Hardy 16,000, Harrison 250,000, Jackson 60,000, Jefferson 55,000, Kanawha 90,000, Lewis 125,000, Lincoln 100,000, Logan 170,000, Marion 225,000, Marshall 100,000, Mason 125,000, Mercer 300,000, Mineral 75,000, Mingo 250,000, Monongalia 150,000, Monroe 20,000, Morgan 75,000, McDowell 300,000, Nicholas 45,000, Ohio 90,000, Pendleton 20,000, Pleasants 60,000, Pocahontas 35,000, Preston 125,000, Putnam 100,000, Raleigh 200,000, Randolph 50,000, Ritchie 20,000, Roane 70,000, Summers 100,000, Taylor 55,000, Tucker 15,000, Tyler 40,000, Upshur 45,000, Wayne 275,000, Webster 25,000, Wetzel 15,000, Wirt 6,000, Wood 140,000, Wyoming 200,000.

KEYSER — A recent dinner was held in honor of the 10th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Pezzanite who have resided in Keyser for the past 35 years.

They were married November 1, 1923 in St. Peter's Catholic Church, Westernport, with the late Msgr. Antonino Scarpato officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Pezzanite are the parents of five sons and three daughters, all of whom were present for the occasion. They are: Mrs. Carmella Raschella and Mrs. Catherine Martin of Keyser; Mrs. Ann Hoffman, Albuquerque, N. M.; James and John Pezzanite, both of Rockville, Md.; Larry Pezzanite, Washington; Maj. Frank Pezzanite, Fort Polk, La. and Joseph Pezzanite, Keyser.

They also have 22 grand-children and five great-grand-children.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Demasi and Mr. and Mrs. Julius Demasi and family, Morgantown. The table was centered with a three-tiered anniversary cake.

Home From Hospital

LONACONING — Rev. Joseph Wetly of here, pastor at the Moscow Church of the Nazarene, has returned home from Miners Hospital, Frostburg, where he was a medical patient.

AAUW Program Planned Nov. 12 For Scholarships

FROSTBURG — The annual AAUW scholarship card party sponsored by the Frostburg-Georgetown branch of the American Association of University Women, will be held Wednesday, November 12.

Proceeds from the party are to be used to present two scholarships to two qualified students at Frostburg State Teachers College, and to contribute to the State Fellowship Fund of the AAUW.

Last year scholarships were awarded to Miss Mary Rice of Flintstone, and Miss Joan Thomas of Frostburg. The fund also was shared with the Frostburg Public Library, which was conducting a drive for $7,500.

The party will be in the form of a dessert, bridge, with refreshments served buffet style. It is being held in the old gymnasium of the college, beginning at 7:45 p. m. Progressive bridge, pivoting bridge, canasta and 600 will be played. Mrs. H. Reford Aldridge is general chairman.

Jury Reduces Land Values

MOOREFIELD — A petit jury awarded George T. Leatherman $13,000 for approximately seven acres of land condemned by the state for the road through the Leatherman farm on U. S. Route 220 north of here.

The State Road Commission had appealed the award of $21,825 by the five commissioners in August. Proceedings were heard before Judge F. Morton Wagner sitting for Judge Harlan Calhoun. Counsel for Leatherman was H. Gus Muntzing, assisted by Ralph J. Bean, representing the Federal Land Bank of Baltimore. J. Alf Taylor 3rd, Harry R. Taylor and Prosecuting Attorney Lewis Moonau represented the state.

The condemnation proceedings were of widespread interest in this section. Attorneys for Leatherman said they were considering an appeal from the verdict.

In a second condemnation case of Hilda Van Meter and others against the state, the jury brought in an award of $3,750, reducing the amount of the five commissioners from $5,000. The same attorneys represented the Van Meters.

Route 220 Relocation Job At Keyser Begins Monday

KEYSER — Work on the relocation of Route 220 through Keyser from Pickensville Street to Carskadon Lane is scheduled to start Monday, V. P. Slickley, one of the contractors said yesterday.

A meeting of all parties affected by the widening and paving of South Mineral Street to Lincoln and South Davis from there to Carskadon Lane was held yesterday in the office of Harold J. Snyder, chief engineer of District 5 of the State Road Commission.

Present were Snyder, Mayor Richard E. Ruml, contractors and representatives of utility companies, including the Keyser Television Company. Utility poles will have to be moved, and extensive work will be done on sewer lines and possibly gas and water lines.

It is not known when the other phase of the project, the relocation of Route 220 from Carskadon Lane to a point about three miles south of Keyser, will start.

Students Listed
Forty-two Keyser students attend the list of 68 Mineral County students at West Virginia University this year.

They are Calvin All, William All, Byron Athey, Gary Athey, Charles Ball, Richard Ball, Jean Barr, Robert Bowers, Richard Bright, Charles Clark, Constance Cross, Susan Davidson, Ruth Ann Davis, James Giffin, Barbara Haines, Frances Hartman, Joan

When students of the University of Maryland invade Baltimore tomorrow to sit in on the Terrapins' game with Navy, they will take with them crying towels furnished by the Middles.

The Maryland campus at College Park this week was flooded with 7,000 handkerchiefs—white sheets of paper which stated:

"Save This For A Crying Towel—You'll Need It Saturday! Go, Navy, Beat Maryland!"

The Middles had the leaflets printed by voluntary contributions from every midshipman at the Naval Academy and the money collected brought about a printing of 7,000 "towels."

Joe Blair, Maryland's sports publicist, in a telephone conversation this morning said the towels could have an adverse effect. "We don't have any trouble getting up our boys for Navy but I've never seen anything that has aroused our players as this has," Blair declared.

Joe himself was overlooked in the crying-towel deluge, although coach Tommy Mont and his assistants were on the receiving end.

One of the midshipmen said next to Army, "Maryland is our big game. It seems to be a general consensus that there is more real hatred between Maryland and Navy than between Army and Navy. At least, we can pull up with Army when we're not playing football against them."

Maryland and Navy broke off football relations after the 1952 game and three straight one-sided beatings administered the Middles, by Jim Tatum's powerful Terrapin teams. In 1950 it was 35-21, in 1951 it was 40-21 and in 1952 it was 38-7.

Blair said all week Maryland players have shown a lot of spirit in practice, whooping it up in the huddles and in general making a lot of noise.

"I hope they can present Tommy (Mont) with a victory," Joe said. "It would give both him and the team a big lift. And both deserve it."

Sports Keg Residue

Halfbacks Gene Zumpano and Bill Hyde, leading ground-gainers on the Beall High School football team, made the honor roll for the first six-week period while Vic Twigg and Jim Davis, reserve guards, are also members of the Honor Society. . . . Beall coach Jerry Calhoun reports that halfback Dick Plummer, the team's co-captain, who was injured in the Allegheny and Southern games, is back and may see limited action tonight against Petersburg. . . . Ray Haley, 168-pound junior defensive end, has been lost to the Mountaineer squad due to scholastic difficulties. . . . Norm Gerdeman, our "West Coast baseball correspondent," reports from Florida where he is vacationing that a drastic shakeup has been made in the Miami lineup by coach Andy Gustafson. . . . Cumberland's Phil Geatz, an end, is one of only three starting linemen who failed to get the ax, the other two being tackle Gary Greaves and Doug Hildebrandt, the other end. . . . The unprecedented shakeup saw junior quarterback Frank Curci, senior tackle Charley Diamond and Cumberland's Jim Crawford, a junior guard, dropped from the first to the third team. . . . "We've been licked four times and we may lose some more but we're going with the boys who will fight down to the finish," Gustafson was quoted as saying in the Miami Herald after swinging the ax. . . . Allegheny Plays Away, Beall At Home Tonight

Local Team Tests Owls In Quest Of Seventh Win

Allegheny High School's football Campers will be gunning for their seventh victory of the season tonight when they invade Carroll County to tangle with the Owls of Westminster, starting at 8 o'clock.

The game, however, looms as a tossup, using comparative scores as a gauge. Allegheny's only loss came at the hands of North Hagerstown in a 39-14 contest, while the Hubs also handed Westminster one of its three defeats—but only by an 18-14 count. In games involving other mutual foes, Allegheny whipped Martinsburg 34-18 and nipped Frederick 13 to 12. Westminster trounced Frederick by a 19-7 count and tripped Martinsburg 21-7.

Alco Loses Bucks

The Owls were overwhelmed 65-28 here two Saturday nights ago by Fort Hill's undefeated Sentinels in a battle of long runs but as Red Raider coach Bill Hahn declared afterwards, that score didn't paint a true picture of Westminster's strength.

Allegheny has been weakened somewhat by the loss of a pair of backs due to scholastic difficulties. Both were ineligible for the first time in last week's game at Frederick. The Campers, with a 3-0-1 mark in the Cumberland Valley Athletic League, will be shooting for their first win over Westminster, the Owls having won in 1956 and again last year.

Westminster has won two and lost two in the CVAL. Martinsburg and Frederick clash in another league test tonight in the West Virginia town. Both teams are out of the little race, Frederick with a 1-3 record and Martinsburg with 1-4.

Fort Hill Stadium will be dark tonight, the Sentinels having been scheduled to meet South Hagerstown this afternoon on the local gridiron in quest of their seventh victory. It will be their last game until they battle Allegheny for the city championship on Thanksgiving Day. The stadium lights, however, go on tomorrow when LaSalle entertains the Yellow Jackets of Moorfield.

Beall Plays Tonight

Beall High's Mountaineers engage in their eighth game of the season tonight when they tackle the Petersburg Vikings in Frostburg at 8 o'clock.

Coach Jerry Calhoun's Mountaineers and Petersburg will be meeting for the first time on the gridiron. Beall owns a 3-3-1 record with three games to play—Petersburg, Handley and LaSalle. The West Virginians invade the Mountain City with a 6-2-1 record.

The Mountaineers will be eager to break into the scoring column in an effort to test the flashing numerals on their new scoreboard which will be in use for the first time. A newly-erected press box will also be used tonight at Beall Stadium.

North Hagerstown will play host to Bel Air High School in another game billed for tonight.

Talks Collapse On Realignment

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Plans for a drastic realignment of the minor leagues failed to reach first base today after two days of talks.

Only two concrete developments came out of the meeting. The American Association authorized Milwaukee to shift its franchise from Wichita to Louisville, and the South Atlantic League added Asheville, N. C. and Columbus, Ga. to its loop.

"But that wasn't realignment," one delegate pointed out. "The Braves merely switched their franchise from one club to another in the same league and Asheville and Columbus didn't have ball clubs last year."

Beagle Club Meets

Plans for the Allegheny Beagle Club's final point trials of the season will be made at a meeting today, 7:30 p. m., at the clubhouse on the Barton Dairy farm.

Couch Dies After Team Wins Title

NORTON, Va. (UPI)—A high school football coach whose team had just won its last game of the season and the district championship collapsed on the field and died from a heart attack Thursday night as he started to walk toward the dressing room.

Bill Fitchko, 39, former Pitts-burgh end under Dr. Jock Sutherland, was carried on the shoulders of his jubilant players to the end of the field, where he got down to shake the hands of admirers in the stands. He then took 10 steps toward the dressing room and collapsed.

He was carried from the field and rushed to a hospital, where doctors pronounced him dead on arrival and said he likely had died instantly from the excitement of the game.

The Gary, W. Va., native had suffered what was diagnosed as a possible heart attack Oct. 24 about 45 minutes before Norton took the field against St. Charles, Va. After four days in the hospital, however, he returned to work, coached Norton to a victory Oct. 30 and officiated a game in Kentucky the next night.

Fitchko had planned to take some of his players to Pitt this week to see his alma mater play Notre Dame.

Lane Battles Godih Tonight

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UPI)—Shouts for a shot at the title, usually the favorite post-fight cry of a winning boxer, are coming from the corner of lightweight contender Kenny Lane who meets former French champ Lahouari Godih tonight in a nationally televised 10-rounder.

Jack Kearns, co-manager of Lane, a southpaw from Muskegon, Mich., said that despite Johnny Buss's verdict over lightweight king Joe Brown in Miami Wednesday night, his boy remained first in line for a chance at the 135-pound crown.

"After all," Kearns said, "Lane is still the number one contender and he put up a good fight against Brown last July in the title fight. He certainly earned a re-match."

Brown Offered $50,000 To Meet Italian Champ

MILAN, Italy (UPI)—World lightweight champion Joe Brown of New Orleans has been offered $50,000 to defend his crown against European titleholder Duijlo Jo of Italy. Brown was defeated by Johnny Buss in a non-title bout Wednesday night in Miami Beach, Fla.

Rules Clinics Slated At 'Y'

There will be a clinic of rules interpretations held at the Central YMCA tomorrow, beginning at noon. This clinic is primarily designed for coaches of teams in the YMCA Sunday School Basketball League and will concern itself with interpretations of the current rules.

There will also be a clinic Monday at the "Y" at 7:30 p. m. which will have as its main concern the training of referees. Floor mechanics, rule interpretations and referee ethics will be discussed.

Anyone interested in basketball from a referee or coaching standpoint, is welcome to attend either of both sessions, according to physical director Jim Fortner. The clinics are to be conducted by Pete Elliott, assisted by members of the International Association of Approved Basketball Officials.

Refreshments will be served.

Petersburg Jayvees Finish With 400-0 Win

Petersburg High's junior varsity football team wound up its season with an easy 40-0 victory over Franklin's reserves yesterday at Petersburg. The win was the fifth against two setbacks for the Little Vikings.

Steve Bruce and David Schaffer scored two touchdowns each while Koonz and Alt made the other scores for the Little Vikings. Joe Denault kicked two extra points and ran the other and Bruce scored one extra point on a run.

The winners gained 293 yards to 50 and had 19 first downs to Franklin's one.

Second Texas Boy Dies In Grid Contest

CLEBURNE, Tex. (UPI)—Another high school football player has died during a game in Texas.

Ronnie Kirkpatrick, 16, fullback for the Cleburne High School "B" team, collapsed after playing only on offense, at the end of the first quarter in a game here Thursday night.

Another high school player died earlier this week in a game at Phillips, Tex.

Kirkpatrick returned to the bench on a platoon change, sat down, and suddenly slumped over. An ambulance was called, but the boy was dead on arrival at Johnson County Memorial Hospital.

Kirkpatrick carried the ball only once during the game, and appeared to have taken no hard blows.

The boy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Kirkpatrick. The father agreed to an autopsy to find out what caused the death of his son.

In the death at Phillips, an autopsy showed that the dead player collapsed from a ruptured spleen.

Local Women Defeat Connellsville Pinesters

Women representing the Cumberland CTP scored a recent victory over the Connellsville CTP by a 22-2 pin margin. Lilly Dentinger had a 152 game and Clara Shinholt a 361 set for the victors, while Katherine Vanstone had 142-342 for Connellsville. Seventy-two bowlers took part and a dinner followed.

Alco Jayvees Rap LaSalle

Scoring three touchdowns in the last quarter, the junior varsity football team of Allegheny High turned back LaSalle, 26 to 7, yesterday at Cahpobello to square the season's series between the two schools. Jerry Pentoney scored two touchdowns and Bob Bruce and Mervin Pope each one for Bob Hutchinson's Little Campers.

The victory was the third against as many losses for the Campers. LaSalle owns a 3-2-1 mark.

Pentoney went over from the one-yard line for Alco's first touchdown in the first quarter and there was no more scoring until the last. Bruce ran 24 yards for the first TD in the fourth period. Pentoney galloped 70 yards with an intercepted pass for the second and Mervin Pope also tallied after a 20-yard interception. McKenzie kicked one extra point but had two others blocked.

LaSalle's only touchdown came in the last quarter when Mike Long broke loose on a 60-yard run. Allegheny's next game is at Fort Hill next Monday.

LaSalle had 12 first downs to Allegheny's ten and gained 140 yards rushing to 118 but the winners gained 60 yards on two of five passes while the Little Explorers completed six of 12 for 40.

Maryland, Navy Resume Grid Rivalry Tomorrow

BALTIMORE (AP)—The football game that Marylanders have talked about as being a natural rivalry between their university and Navy comes off tomorrow after a six-year lapse.

However, even though it is being staged in Baltimore's centrally located Memorial Stadium there has been no stampede to make it a sellout.

The resumption of the intrastate series between the major elevens is marked by somewhat of a reverse in their fortunes.

When Maryland swept the last series from 1950 through 1952, it was on the national heights under Coach Jim Tatum. Navy was just getting under way under Coach Eddie Erdelatz.

While Maryland has slipped in the past three seasons under Coach Tommy Mont, Navy has been the one to go to the post season bowls as one of the nation's standouts under Erdelatz.

Still tomorrow's game shapes up as a good, close contest. Maryland showed it has the stuff to win by beating rugged South Carolina 10-6 last week after four straight losses. On the other hand, Navy was exposed as vulnerable in a 40-20 loss to Notre Dame.

The Maryland-Navy game will be the showcase of four contests in the state Saturday. Looming will be at Western Maryland, Delaware State at Maryland State, and Virginia Union at Morgan.

Johns Hopkins will be the lone traveler at Swarthmore.

Penn State's Ground Game To Test WVU

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—If West Virginia's Mountaineers hope to even their season's record at 4-4 Saturday, they must find a way to effectively bottle up Penn State's running attack.

Some 25,000 fans are expected to sit in on the annual homecoming affair at Mountaineer Field with the Nittany Lions seeking their fifth win in eight starts.

Coach Art Lewis said today he and his assistants had spent much of the week getting "our defense ironed out," in preparation for Penn State.

"They have been averaging over 300 yards a game and that will make things tough," he said. "Rip (Angle) has a good ball club."

Pappy also had some nice words to say about the players who have been piling up most of that yardage, halfback Dave Kasperian fullback Pat Butola.

"That Kasperian and Butola and their quarterback Al Jacks and Richie Lucas are all outstanding," Lewis said. "They can give any team trouble."

Penn State is third in the nation in rushing yardage, averaging 260 yards per game. However, the Lions' passing has been a little anemic with an average of only 80.6 yards per game.

Commenting on the Mountaineers, Lewis said "if the boys play as well all the way Saturday as they did in the second half last week, we'll be tough."

Baylor Pages Lakers To Win Over Warriors

By The Associated Press

The National Basketball Assn. season is less than two weeks old. But already Elgin Baylor, the former college All-American from Seattle, has grabbed a headlock hold on Rookie-of-the-Year honors.

Baylor scored 26 points Thursday night to lead the Minneapolis Lakers to a 103-101 victory over the Philadelphia Warriors. The triumph gave last season's tailenders sole possession of first place in the Western Division with a 4-2 record.

Syracuse, Boston Open Weekend Grind Tonight

By FRED DOWN
United Press International

Syracuse attempts to take a stronger grip on a Cotton or Orange Bowl bid when it opposes dangerous Boston University tonight in a game that starts a weekend schedule which promises trouble for several of the nation's top 10.

Syracuse, ranked 12th in the country, is a 12-point favorite over thrice-beaten BU but Terrier Coach Steve Sinko believes his underdogs can spring an upset on the strength of a backfield that has shown power to the outside. BU turned in its best effort of the season last Saturday when it scored a 33-7 victory over William and Mary.

The other bowl hopefuls, national powers and the two remaining unbeaten and untied may for teams all see action Saturday. These games include important struggles in the Big Ten, the Big Eight and the Pacific Coast Conference plus such attractive sectional pairings as Army vs. Rice and Mississippi vs. Houston.

LUS Over Duke

Rutgers, unbeaten, untied and unranked, is a solid favorite to win its seventh straight game against Lafayette Saturday afternoon and Louisiana State, the country's other unbeaten and untied major team, is a 13-point pick over Duke in a Saturday night game. LSU, ranked second after its 14-0 victory over Mississippi, is the leading candidate for the Southeastern Conference's lucrative Sugar Bowl bid.

Iowa, ranked No. 1, could wrap up the Big Ten's Rose Bowl invitation although it would take an unlikely combination of circumstances. The Hawkeyes are 17-2 point favorites over Minnesota but can't clinch the bowl bid unless Wisconsin upsets Northwestern and Ohio State upsets Purdue. Northwestern is a seven-point pick and Purdue is a 1½-point choice.

Sooners Loped Favorites

Oklahoma, ranked No. 5, is a lopsided choice to run its unbeaten streak in the Big Eight to 69 games when it meets Iowa State. Colorado is rated three points over Missouri against which Oklahoma figures to clinch the conference title and Orange Bowl bid on Nov. 15.

Oregon State, which took over the Pacific Coast Conference lead last Saturday is favored over Washington State and California, still in the running for the title, is rated 13 points over UCLA in the big Far West games.

Army, No. 3, will throw its savage inside-and-outside ground attack at a Rice team which hopes to gain the Cotton Bowl bid and will be fighting to uphold the "honor" of the Southwest Conference. Mississippi, rebounding from the LSU shock, is an equally strong favorite against Houston.

Irish Over Pitt

Auburn, No. 4 but needing a "big win" to claim national honors, is a seven-point pick over Mississippi State; Notre Dame is rated four points over a powerful Pittsburgh team which has only a so-so 4-2-1 record but is a match for any college team in the land; Texas Christian will run up the score on over-matched Marquette; 16th-ranked Oregon-Gator bowl aspirant North Carolina is 17½ points over Virginia and Clemson, ranked No. 18 and a strong contender for the Orange Bowl, is a four-point underdog to Georgia Tech, in other key games.

Alabama is a one-point pick over Tulane and Florida State is favored by a half-point over Miami (Fla.) in tonight's other major games.

Glenville Can Gain On Rams Today

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Unbeaten Glenville had a chance to gain some ground today in its race with Shepherd for the 1958 West Virginia Conference football crown.

Although the Pioneers and Shepherd have closed their league schedules, they must wait and see what their defeated opponents do before either can claim the championship.

West Virginia State entertains Salerni at Institute today and a win by the Tigers would enable Glenville to move ahead of Shepherd under the league's rating system.

Another game found Bethany visiting Grove City, Pa., College. Under the conference rating system, a winner gets 100 points per game plus 10 points for each win posted by a defeated opponent and five points for each tie. The total is then divided by the number of games played.

Before today's Salerni-State game, Shepherd had 113 points and Glenville 112.1. A win by Salerni would give the Pioneers the unofficial edge, 113.6 to 113.

Five other conference teams see action Saturday. Wesleyan is at Davis & Elkins, West Liberty at Fairmont, Shaw, N. C., at Bluefield State, Concord at Maryville, Tenn., and Bridgewater, Va., at Shepherd.

Potomac State After Win No. 4

The Calamounds of Potomac State College will be shooting for their fourth victory in eight games tomorrow when they entertain Newport News Apprentice School at Stayman Field, Keyser, starting at 2 p. m.

Last Saturday "Horse" Lough's gridders ran wild at Dover, Del., where they rolled to a 64-0 victory over Wesley College.

The Cats have lost three games and tied one.

Ohio State Underdog In Tilt With Purdue

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—For the first time since away back when Ohio State goes into a football game Saturday as the underdog.

Purdue's Boilermakers, their last three wins over Michigan State, Notre Dame and Illinois—while Ohio was trampling under-manned Indians, tying Wisconsin and losing to three-touchdown underdog Northwestern—are the threat to force the Bucks another rung down the gridiron ladder.

Mrs. Flippen Wins

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—Mrs. Harrison F. Flippen of Ardmore, Pa., current U.S. Senior Women's champion, won the inaugural 36-hole North and South Invitation Senior Tournament for Women here Thursday with a card of 79-77-156.

London Picks Irish Star As Laurel Choice

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—The reputation of Ireland's Ballymoss is so great that even the London bookmakers are going to bet on him in Tuesday's International race.

This was the word relayed today to Laurel track officials by Cyril Parker, managing director of one of England's foremost bookmakers, Ladbroke & Co.

Parker said that the firm is receiving such "a tremendous amount of money from all over the world" that it will not quote any odds on Ballymoss. It is accepting the bets and offering to pay off at the Laurel track odds if the 4-year-old colt owned by John McShain of Philadelphia wins the seventh International.

Bets On No Others

Parker added that his bookmaking establishments and others he knows about are receiving no bets on any of the nine other entries in the $100,000 International, to be run at a mile and one half on the grass.

It is his own personal opinion that "there isn't anybody in the world that can beat Ballymoss."

The colt arrived at Laurel Thursday along with Tharp, another Irish colt, and Orsini from Germany. Venezuela's Escribano is due Saturday to complete the roundup.

The International will be the last racing appearance for Ballymoss. He has been sold by McShain to the English Stud for $700,000.

In addition to the three Europeans and Venezuelan entry, the International lineup includes Clem and Tudor Era of the host country, Zaryad and Garnir from Russia, Sailor's Guide from Australia, and Bevoque from Argentina.

Post Time 3:45 P. M.

Post time for the first race on International Day at Laurel will be 12:20 p. m., instead of the usual 1 p. m.

There will be nine races instead of eight, with the International scheduled as the seventh going to the post at 3:45 p. m.

Maxwell Nabs Lead In Atlanta

ATLANTA (UPI)—The chase was on today in the third round of the $25,000 Carling Open golf tournament — and the man the pack was out to nab was Billy Maxwell, the Odessa, Tex., sharpshooter.

Maxwell's wedge was his best shooting iron Thursday as he blazed an eight-under-par 64 over the recently-constructed 7,004-yard Cherokee course, which the pros say is one of the roughest in the country.

That sizzling 64 gave Maxwell a two-day total of 136 for a two-stroke lead over his nearest rival, Bill Collins of Baltimore, Md. Collin's round lead with a 4-under 68, toured the course in 70 Thursday for a halfway mark of 138.

Julius Boros, Mid Pluies, N. C., the only "old pro" among the top five scorers after 36 holes, had a 8-under-par 68 Thursday — second best round of the tournament — for a third place 140. Boros is one of four former Carling winners eligible for an added $5,000 bonus for a repeat title.

Rounding out that top five were Billy Casper, Apple Valley, Calif., and Bob Watson, Ardley, N. Y., who carded a 69 and a 70 for 141's.

Packer End Put On Injured List

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI)—The Green Bay Packers have placed end Gary Knefel on the injured reserve list for the rest of the season. Knefel will undergo surgery for a placed cartilage in his right knee that "should make him ready for next season."

$105,000 For Horae.

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI)—A six-owner syndicate headed by Stanley Dancer paid a record $105,000 Thursday for Duncer Hanover a yearling colt. The syndicate outbid the nearest competitor by $4,000.

Passing Fancy May Be Reality For Pitt-Irish

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—A passing fancy may be a reality Saturday when Pitt and Notre Dame square off at Pitt Stadium in the 25th meeting of the rivals.

George Izo, recently described by former Notre Dame coach Frank Leahy as one of the best collegiate passers in the game, and Bobby Williams will be the "starting pitcher" and "reliever" when the Irish try for their 17th victory in the series.

Pitt's firing line—Ivan Tomic and Bill Kaliden—will carry the Panthers' hopes for the eighth victory in the series that began in 1909. The 1911 game ended in a scoreless tie.

Pitt undoubtedly will be on the rebound since suffering the 16-13 defeat at Syracuse last week while the Irish ran over Navy 40-20. The game may shift to the ground with William (Red) Mack and Nick Pietrosanti carrying the ball for Notre Dame. Pitt's running stars are halfback Dick Haley and fullback Fred Riddle.

Penn State's Ground Game To Test WVU

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—If West Virginia's Mountaineers hope to even their season's record at 4-4 Saturday, they must find a way to effectively bottle up Penn State's running attack.

Some 25,000 fans are expected to sit in on the annual homecoming affair at Mountaineer Field with the Nittany Lions seeking their fifth win in eight starts.

Coach Art Lewis said today he and his assistants had spent much of the week getting "our defense ironed out," in preparation for Penn State.

"They have been averaging over 300 yards a game and that will make things tough," he said. "Rip (Angle) has a good ball club."

Pappy also had some nice words to say about the players who have been piling up most of that yardage, halfback Dave Kasperian fullback Pat Butola.

"That Kasperian and Butola and their quarterback Al Jacks and Richie Lucas are all outstanding," Lewis said. "They can give any team trouble."

Penn State is third in the nation in rushing yardage, averaging 260 yards per game. However, the Lions' passing has been a little anemic with an average of only 80.6 yards per game.

Commenting on the Mountaineers, Lewis said "if the boys play as well all the way Saturday as they did in the second half last week, we'll be tough."

Pappy also had some nice words to say about the players who have been piling up most of that yardage, halfback Dave Kasperian fullback Pat Butola.

"That Kasperian and Butola and their quarterback Al Jacks and Richie Lucas are all outstanding," Lewis said. "They can give any team trouble."

Penn State is third in the nation in rushing yardage, averaging 260 yards per game. However, the Lions' passing has been a little anemic with an average of only 80.6 yards per game.

Commenting on the Mountaineers, Lewis said "if the boys play as well all the way Saturday as they did in the second half last week, we'll be tough."

City Seeking Data On Flood Project Maintenance Needs

The Mayor and Council yesterday took part in the final inspection of a flood control project and made plans for a briefing on the maintenance of the project.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech and other city officials participated in the inspection of Section 2 of the Potomac River phase of the $18,000,000-plus project.

The contract has been completed by the E. J. Albrecht Company, of Chicago, under a $1,280,532 contract let by the Corps of Engineers last year.

Included was the construction of levees and channel dredging of about a mile of the river below the mouth of Wills Creek and the new railroad interchange bridge.

Albrecht and Erich Gronbach, who served as project engineer on several flood control contracts here, came from Chicago to attend the ceremony.

Officials of both the Washington and North Atlantic divisions of the Army Engineers attended.

City officials indicated that all of the work was found satisfactory. If accepted by the Army Engineers, it will be turned over to the city soon for operation.

The Mayor and Council is anxious to know what it will cost to operate the system, and made arrangements with officials of the Corps to come here the week of November 17.

City officials say they want to find out all they can about the system and its operation, and specifically the exact cost of operation.

The current budget includes $31,000 for maintenance of the portions of the flood project which have been turned over to the city, and have been told costs may go as high as $50,000 a year.

At present, a foreman, Roy Naphis, and five men are assigned to the maintenance of the flood structures.

Collection of items for distribution by the Salvation Army during the Christmas season has been started by employees of the Cumberland office of the C&P Telephone Company.

The project is called the "Happiness Pile" and old toys and clothes and canned goods will be collected to be distributed.

Mrs. Thomasine Clay and Mrs. Janie Perdue are in charge of arrangements. Anyone who has a donation may call PA 2-9555 or PA 2-9841, and the article will be picked up by a telephone employee.

The second floor of the central office building on South Centre Street will be used to store the goods. Several telephone employees have volunteered their services to mend any damaged articles.

Brenner Pass Rail Blast Proves Dud

BOLZANO, Italy (UPI)—"Terrorists" tried to blow up the rail line running through the Brenner Pass into Germany, police said today. Police said two bombs were planted along the rail line, but luckily only the smaller of the two went off, causing only minor damage.

Take Over Theatre

BRUSSELS (UPI)—The Belgian government has decided to take over the U. S. theatre at the Brussels World Fair which closed on Oct. 19, it was announced Thursday night.

TV Proposal For Area Aired At Meeting; Officers Named

A proposal for providing UHF television facilities for Cumberland was discussed last night at a meeting in the City Hall auditorium.

Over 150 persons attended the meeting which resulted in the formation of an organizing committee and plans for a second meeting Thursday, November 13, at 8 p.m. in City Hall.

Members of the temporary committee, which will explore the proposal, are: Gorman E. Getty, president; Dr. Harold Malin, vice president; Albert Mason, secretary; and Warren B. Hyson, treasurer.

A number of residents of areas which are interested in UHF reception attended.

Matt Silver, engineer from Rochester firm which makes and sells TV equipment, explained the operation of the plan.

Lee Marple served as chairman for the overflow meeting.

Playhouse 90 Show Termed 'Nightmarish'

Godfrey To Chat With Victor Borge, Other Top Performers

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—I had the feeling on re-reading "Heart of Darkness" recently that it was an impossible piece to transfer to the TV screen.

After watching the CBS-TV "Playhouse 90" treatment of the Joseph Conrad story Thursday night, I still have that feeling. However, this may be unfair because "Playhouse 90" didn't do "Heart of Darkness" so much as it did something that might be called "Variations on a Theme by Joseph Conrad."

Stewart Stern, writer of the TV play, performed a strange operation on the Conrad novel — he padded it and turned it inside out. Conrad's story dealt with a voyage up the Congo and into the heart of Africa. Conrad was working with twilight meanings — unformulated, inconclusive — and what he seemed to imply was that the journey was one into evil and perhaps into the heart of man itself.

What Stern did was to take Conrad's implications and bawl them loud and often so that the dullest member of the audience could ken the play's "meaning." And conversely, he took Conrad's real physical world (where symbols were suggested) and changed it into a symbol world (where reality was hardly ever suggested).

As a result, "Playhouse 90" churned out a kind of Pilgrimage Progress-cabinet of Dr. Caligari where nightmarish little lessons were ready for the learning at each stop. It was almost impossible to feel any contact with the proceedings—it was a little like watching the lecture of a talented lunatic through the bottom of two marlini glasses.

Roddy McDowell, as a gentleman pursued by the furies, turned in a performance that packed fits and starts of excellence. Inger Stevens looked lovely and acted fairly lovely. Eartha Kitt was, to put it kindly, inadequate. Boris Karloff was there.

The Channel Swim: CBS-TV's Arthur Godfrey has had such favorable response to his chats this week with Jackie Gleason that he will talk with a succession of guests all next week on his morning show — Victor Borge, John Crosby, Faye Emerson, Jessica Tandy and Hume Cronyn. Gleason will appear on the Godfrey evening CBS-TV show Nov. 11.

Art Carney will star in a CBS-TV "Playhouse 90" drama by Rod Serling in January. Victor Borge has booked in dancer Alicia Markova as guest on his one hour CBS-TV special Nov. 29.

The NBC-TV "Jack Paar Show" originally scheduled for two weeks in Hollywood, will remain an additional week — Bob Hope and Oscar Levant will make return guest spots.

Mickey Rooney will be the sole member of the cast of "Eddie," a Nov. 17 "Goodyear Theatre" drama on NBC-TV. Cliff Arquette, who plays "Charlie Weaver" on the NBC-TV "Jack Paar Show," is compiling a book, "Letters From Mama."

Marlene Clark Named Optimist Of Year

Marlene Clark, 16, of Baltimore, who was sponsored by the Bedford Road Optimist Club, has been named Maryland Girl of the Year.

The contest is held by Maryland Optimist Clubs in connection with the observance of Youth Appreciation Week.

Miss Clark is a junior at Fort Hill High School, where she is active in musical organizations, with the observance of Youth Appreciation Week.

She was selected from 200 candidates for the honor at a meeting in Baltimore last night.

A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Clark, Baltimore Pike, she won top honors this year in the Allegany County Farm Bureau picnic.

Active in the Bedford Road 4-H Club, she won the county 4-H speech contest last spring and has earned awards for cooking, baking, sewing and the preparation of salads and dairy foods.

Miss Clark will appear on a Baltimore TV show Friday afternoon.

The award will be presented

LIL ABNER

By Al Capp

IN THE BADLANDS, MAMMY PEEKS THROUGH MISS JONES' WINDOW—

GASP!!

YOU'VE BEEN SNOOPIN' 'ROUND JONES' HOUSE, MAMMY? WHAT DID YOU SEE?

THAT'S AN ODD SMILE ON MAMMY'S FACE—

STEVE CANYON

By Milton Caniff

STEVE, THIS IS MY HUSBAND, BUDDY PYLORIAN.

WE'RE LEGALLY SEPARATED—IN CASE YOU WERE WONDERING

SO NOW THE SCRIPT CALLS FOR YOU TO THROW ME OUT! BUT I WON'T BE NECESSARY—I'M JUST DOING

BEEN FOLLOWING YOU TWO AROUND T'GET A GOOD LOOK AT VAN'S NEW BOY... BUT SOME-TIMES I DON'T POOK SO GOOD.

GO I THOUGHT I'D DROP IN AN' MEET YOU SOCIALLY, PAL... I LIKE T'KEEP TRACK OF SAVANNAH'S HUSBANDS—PAST AN' FUTURE

YOU'LL ENJOY THE EX-MR. OAY ASSOCIATION—FASTEST-GROWING GROUP IN THE COUNTRY!

RIP KIRBY

By John Prentice and Fred Dickenson

PLEASE, MR. KIRBY, DO NOT REFER TO THE PRINCESS PROBLEMA AS AN 'IT'.

OH, NOW I HEARD IT! I HEARD IT SPEAK!

FORGIVE ME, PRINCESS. I DID NOT MEAN TO BE RUDE.

THAT'S BETTER...

AND NOW, WHAT IN THE WORLD IS THIS ALL ABOUT?

IT'S YOUR TURN TO FORGIVE ME—FOR LAUGHING...

MYRTLE

By Dudley Fisher

WHAT DID YOU GET IN THE SPELLING TEST?

I SAID --- WHAT DO YOU GET IN THE SPELLING TEST?

WELL, TO BEGIN WITH, I DON'T EVEN THINK IT WAS FAIR... NONE OF THOSE WORDS WE HADN'T EVEN HAD YET!

CAPTAIN EASY

By Leslie Turner

ELLEN: YOU WALKED OVER IN 'N' SNOW ALONE?

I HAD TO APOLOGIZE TO THOSE MEN FOR UNCLE MESSY RUDENESS TONIGHT HE WASN'T HIMSELF!

HE NEVER IS... NOT ANY MORE! LET'S FACE IT... HE'S BEEN MEAN WHEN HE'S DRUNK, AND THAT'S MOST OF THE TIME NOW!

BUD! MUST YOU ONS-GUS- THAT BEFORE STRANGERS?

BUT HONEY, DON'T YOU ANY LONGER AND SEE WHAT HE'S DOING TO YOU! A POKE IN THE NOSE MIGHT MAKE—

BE YOUR AGE! BUD! NOW I MUST GET BACK BEFORE HE WAKES UP!

BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES

By Edgar Martin

DORY, YOU DID IT! YOU GOT MRS. BUD HOME SAFE AND SOUND!

WE'RE SO PROUD OF YOU!

HOW WAS THE PLANE TRIP HOME?

OHAY! AFTER I CLAMPED MY SEAT BELT ON 'ER, GOOD AN' TIGHT!

WITH HER HANDS... I MEAN FISTS... UNDERNEATH!

EVERYBODY IN THE CHEER-ING SECTION HAS COLORED CARDS TO HOLD UP WHILE THE BAND PLAYS THE SCHOOL SONGS!

SEE? A BIG 'S' FOR SHADYSIDE!

ER... THE MUSIC'S OVER NOW, BUT I NOTICE SOME OF THEM STILL HAVE THEIR CARDS UP!

OH...

THOSE ARE THE STUDENTS WHO CAME TO THE GAME WITH A DATE!

ALLEY OOP

By V. T. Hamlin

THERE'S BEEN A BATTLE SURE ENOUGH... THE PLACE IS LITTERED WITH FIGHTIN' STUFF!

YEH... BUT WHERE IS EVERYBODY?

IT'S AWFUL QUIET! NOT A SOUL AROUND! LET'S LEARN TH' WORST QUICK!

ON TO TH' PALACE!

MY GOSH, WE SAY, YOU LOOK OKAY!

WHY, SURE! WHY SHOULDN'T I? FOR CAT SAKE?

WELL, GEE WHIZ, DIDN'T OH, HIM? WASH, TH' KING OF BUL, SHOW UP! HE DIDN'T STAY LONG!

MICKEY MOUSE

By Walt Disney

YOU KNOW HOW I DISLIKE FIGHTING! IT JUST WENT REFINED!

COME ON, MINNIE. BE A SPORT!

Raise Discount Rates

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Reserve Bank of New York received permission from the Federal Reserve Board Thursday to raise from 2 to 2 1/2 per cent its charge on loans to commercial banks.

Announce Merger

NEW YORK (UPI)—The directors of General Telephone Corp. and Sylvania Electric Products Thursday announced plans to merge into a firm to be known as General Telephone and Electronics Corp.

Muscular Dystrophy Drive Begins In Two Counties

Area fire fighters distributed 700 canisters in Allegany and Garrett counties this week to mark the opening of the 1958 Muscular Dystrophy fund drive in this area.

Edgar L. Bucy, with off-duty members of the Cumberland Fire Department delivered 500 of the canisters to strategic points in Cumberland this week.

Another 250 of the collection boxes were placed throughout Allegany and Garrett counties by Alvin Rankin, Frostburg.

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker, campaign chairman and area

Muscular Dystrophy president, said Boy Scouts will deliver about 2,500 contribution request envelopes to homes and business places of the area.

He said contributions may be inserted in the envelopes which will be picked up here for tabulation.

Mrs. Nell Kennedy and Mrs. William H. Festerman will be in charge of the campaign in the Frostburg section.

Petroleum, the lifeblood of Venezuela's economy, makes up at least 90 per cent of the nation's exports.
